After exchange

Carmichael praises City of Northville

Romulus Mayor Hyle Carmichael returned to the city yesterday with nothing but praise for the City of Northville after spending most of Monday in the northern Wayne County community as part of mayor's exchange day.

"The trip showed us some things we could consider for our city," Carmichael said. "They took us on a tour of their new downtown shopping mall, the senior citizen housing, new single family home subdivisions and the city's historical park."

"THE ONLY thing I had a complaint about is that they have been a city 17 years, and haven't solved all their problems," chuckled the mayor.

The mayor was most impressed with Northville's proposed downtown shopping mall.

The structure, to be built near the city's civic center, will house 31 shops in an effort to keep the city's downtown area a viable commercial force in its area of the county.

"They had a choice, to either let the place die, or to go at it aggressively and attempt to keep the downtown area a commercial center," Carmichael said.

"THEY CHOSE to build in an effort to save their commercial center."

Not all aspects of Northville, however, are applicable to Romulus.

Land preparation nearly done for urban renewal

By JIM CARRAVALLAH

Romulus' one-time ghetto, "The Jungle" as it was known, is eight months away from nearly total rehabilitation.

Land preparation in the city's first urban renewal project should be nearly 90 per cent complete by this winter, with new roads winding through the area bounded by Chamberlain, Beverly, Howe and Van Born Roads.

Urban Renewal Director, George Wilhelm, is confident that the citizens of the community will find the project a success.

"URBAN RENEWAL is often blamed for many problems," explains Wilhelm, who has been on the scene for six years in Romulus and is the veteran of community improvement work for the past 20 years, "but I think here we've attempted to prove that the people benefit from such a program."

When the Beverly Urban Renewal Project first was started, the 175-acre area south of Van Born Road and east of Wayne Road was populated with families living in 175 single family homes scattered in thick underbrush which couldn't be rooted out by bulldozers at its thickest point.

"We saved as many of the homes as we could, but many couldn't be brought up to city standards without putting more work into them than they were worth," explains Wilhelm.

"It was making the decision which homes should stay and which should go that gives urban renewal the bad name. When those who are to have their homes torn down are told so, urban renewal often hears complaints that it is putting the people out of homes."

"Nothing is farther from the truth."

SOME 99 of the 175 structures in the urban renewal project had to be removed. All 99 families living in the homes were offered several options for housing.

Among their choices were moving into the city-owned public housing, purchasing a new lot in the area and building a new home with the payment for their former home, or having urban renewal move them to a new area.

Nearly all the families chose to build a new home.

"Oh, we had some problems," explains Wilhelm. "There are some people who think their homes are easily worth $50,000, but that will be settled in court."

"But we've managed to make most of the people here happy."

When completed, the Beverly project will have more than six miles of paved streets, 290 single family homes, 180 apartment units, a community parkway joining a park and three acres of commercial businesses.

THIS WILL replace the hand-built homes which were the standard living quarters for blacks in the first half of the Twentieth Century.

"All the homes in here were hand built, because there was no mortgage money for blacks back then," explained Wilhelm.

"It wasn't until maybe 10 years ago that the blacks had any source of a loan in the community.

"Times have changed, and many of the homes here are being mortgaged through a black mortgage firm."

Home Federal Savings and Loan, a totally black-owned business, is financing all housing in the project area. "WE CAN'T emphasize enough that this will be a

Urban renewal doesn't upset some residents in project

By JIM CARRAVALLAH

Urban renewal, often blamed for displacing families from their homes, doesn't appear to upset the residents of the Romulus Urban Renewal project, if the Joseph LaMars are typical.

The LaMars will be forced to leave their home of 30 years at 6313 Chamberlain St., Romulus, in the near future because it lies too near the right of way of a proposed parkway planned for the project area.

Still, despite the sentimental value of the home in which the couple raised their five children, they appear happy.

"THERE'S ONLY one complaint I've got," explained LaMar, 70, "and that's that it isn't moving fast enough."

"We've needed this a long time, and now I want to see it completed."

The LaMar's house, a large comfortable two story farm-style home, is one of the unfortunate victims which must be offered for an urban renewal project. Although the structure is sound, it must go because it lies in the right of way of a street.

Except for its location, the home would have stayed.

But still, the couple will face little hardship. Directly next door to their old home, at 6315 Chamberlain, builders are readying a large three-bedroom ranch-style home with an attached garage for the LaMars.

"WE REALLY like it," says

LaMar's wife, Ethel, 67. "We can't wait to get inside."

Workers have finished painting the inside of the structure, and the LaMars will be able to move in within the next couple of weeks.

The couple's enthusiasm remains unbounded by the discomforts of both the home construction on their southern side and the road construction to the north and west.

"We don't mind the construction," said Mrs. LaMar. "If it'll improve this area, we'll gladly accept it."

Paving program may hit snag

Romulus' $12 million urban renewal paving program may have hit a minor snag, thanks to Mother Nature.

According to Director George Wilhelm, workmen excavating roadways for the six miles of pavement scheduled to go in the 175-acre area bounded by Chamberlain Street, Van Born Road, Howe Road and Beverly Road, struck water at three feet.

"Normally, you don't reach water until you've excavated to a depth of seven to eight feet," explained Wilhelm, "but the wet weather in the earlier part of the year and the high level of the Great Lakes has brought the water table up."

Workmen putting in the road will have to excavate deeper for the roadbeds, and fill in the extra excavation with gravel and other types of more substantial base material.

The ground water problem will mean about a two-week delay in completing the paving and some extra cost.

"I can't say the problem was unforeseen," said Wilhelm, "because we put in about a 10 per cent contingency in the event of such an occurrence.

"The big problem is we struck water sooner than we thought we would."

Completion of the paving and drainage program in the city's urban renewal project should still be completed by the winter, according to Wilhelm.

JOHN J. GILLIGAN

"I'm not the kind of guy who sits back and says, 'Let George do it,' so I decided to run."

Gilligan took out his petitions for office Friday, after turning in petitions he had taken out for the office of mayor earlier last month.

Gilligan to seek spot on council

John L. Gilligan, 44, will seek a spot on the Romulus City Council in the Aug. 7 primary.

Gilligan, who lives at 9335 Karen Dr., boasts more than five years activity in civic affairs, primarily on the neighborhood level. His most recent civic endeavor was petitioning the Romulus City Council to have the city erect a stop sign at the corner of Karen Dr. and Stewart St. in the city's southern section.

"My petition pointed up a need in this city," explains Gilligan. "Kids play at the corner of Karen and Stewart because there is a lack of playgrounds in the city."

"IF ELECTED to council, I will see that playgrounds are erected for kids."

"It's especially important since builders agree to put a play area in their subdivisions, and then don't follow through on their promises."

Gilligan anticipates financing his campaign for playgrounds by bringing more taxes into the city from the Detroit Metropolitan Airport in Romulus.

"I would like to get more taxes from the airport," he explains. "If elected, I will get a group of people together to go to the airport to talk to the proper people."

"THERE SHOULD be more revenue coming into the city from the airport."

Gilligan is the holder of a bachelor and master degree in chemistry.

He earned the bachelor of science degree in chemistry from Detroit Institute of Technology in 1955, and earned a master of arts degree in chemistry from Eastern Michigan University in 1966.

He also is the holder of a secondary teaching certificate from the State of Michigan.

Gilligan lives with his wife, Gerda, in Romulus.

THE COUPLE has a son, Stephen, 3½.

"Many people have approached me about running for council," explains Gilligan. "They want something done for the people, and I would like to do it."

A TIME TO PAY HOMAGE — Though no one knows when Memorial Day, sometimes called Decoration Day, originated, it is believed to have been first observed by grieving Southern women during the Civil War. Since the war of the states, Americans have fought and died in five wars. Editor Mitch Kehetian took this picture of a World War I veterans' burial site at Woodmere Cemetery in Detroit. More than half of the weather-beaten grave markers only carry a number. This Memorial Day, veterans organizations across the country will remember their fallen comrades — young Americans who died for a cause they deemed just. It's called freedom.

Scripture distribution spirals upward

NEW YORK—Worldwide scripture distribution spiraled sharply upward in 1972, exceeding 200 million copies for the first time in the history of the United Bible Societies.

This information was revealed in the 157th annual report of the board of managers of the American Bible Society, one of 55 national Bible societies that comprise the fellowship of the United Bible Societies.

The total of 218,429,595 scriptures distributed registered an increase of 47,313,052, or 27.6 percent over the 171,116,543 copies circulated in 1971.

GIFTS contributed by supporters of the American

Bible Society made possible the distribution of 163,624,325 of these Scriptures, 121,122,596 of which were distributed in this country.

Support for the work was received through more than 1.6 million individual gifts to the American Bible Society, plus contributions from 70 denominations, churches and agencies who also supported the Bible cause.

"Let the Word Speak" is the current theme of Bible Society work and the report indicates the Word is speaking to millions everywhere. This is so despite the wars and disasters which have dominated the news and the political tensions which have divided nations and made communications difficult.

The Americas, including Canada and the United States, accounted for the largest number of Scriptures distributed, a total of 150,609,366 copies, followed by Asia-Pacific region which totaled 51,716,955. Europe was next with 8,330,373, followed by Africa which distributed 7,772,901 scriptures.

OF THE worldwide total distribution 5,519,909 were whole Bibles and 14,244,700

Testaments. Portions, a complete book or more of the Bible, totaled 31,483,432 and Selections, short passages of scripture less than a book, 167,070,554.

At least one complete book of the Bible has now been published in 1,500 languages, an increase of 43 languages in the past year. This accounts for the languages or dialects spoken by over 97 per cent of the world's population.

It leaves an estimated 1,000 languages and dialects, spoken by slightly more than 2 per cent of the world population, in which scriptures have not yet been published. Bible translators continue in their efforts to translate the scriptures into all languages or dialects spoken in the world, so that people everywhere may have the scriptures in the languages they can read or understand.

Antidefamation league formed by Catholics

WASHINGTON (AP) — Formation of the Catholic League for Religious and Civil Rights was announced Monday by Stuart Hubbell of Traverse City, Mich., who will serve as the new organization's executive director.

The founding of the organization was prompted largely by recent decisions by the Supreme Court and U.S. district courts on such questions as abortion and government financial aid to private schools, Hubbell said.

He said the organization, which is an antidefamation league, has as its purpose winning the rights and liberties of Catholics and other minorities. He hopes it will achieve this objective through education, dialogue, confrontation and, if necessary, litigation, Hubbell said.

"While prejudice against Catholics and other religious minorities is not new or unique to this country, indications of increasing discrimination because of religion are beginning to surface in America," Hubbell said.

He announced that the league will follow the path and practices established by the Jewish Antidefamation League, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the Urban League and other similar organizations.

Hubbell emphasized that the league is not funded by nor connected with the Roman Catholic church, institutionally or otherwise, but is made up of Catholics and funded by them as American citizens.

The president of the organization is the Rev. Virgil Blum, political science professor at Marquette University. The vice president is Arthur Scheller Jr., Chicago educator and lawyer.

I'm waiting for my tax refund. How many refunds have to be processed by the Internal Revenue Service? Do many taxpayers take the time to itemize their returns?

R.P., Lansing

You shouldn't have to wait much longer. Believe it or not, as of April 18, more than 40 million 1972 refunds had been approved by the IRS, totaling $14.1 billion - an average of $346 per refund. That's a jump from last year's average of $252. The IRS predicts that approximately 60 million refunds will be approved after review of all returns filed. Itemizing tax returns is the most common method of filing. As of April 20, about 52 million taxpayers filed the Form 1040, and 21.4 million made use of the short form, 1040A.

At our recent coin collectors meeting, the question came up on the shortage of President Eisenhower silver dollars. Even though they have been heavily minted, the "Ike dollars" don't seem to enjoy wide circulation. Can you explain this?

—M.R., Kalamazoo

The Director of the Mint tells me that plenty of the "Ike dollars" have been minted, but some local banks just don't carry them in stock. The "Ike dollars" will be minted for another 10 to 12 years, with the dates changing each year. If more people ask for this coin at local banks, demand will influence the availability. By making a few phone calls I am confident that you can find local banks in your area which have "Ike dollars" on hand. Incidentally, visitors to Washington can purchase them directly from the Cash Room at the Treasury Building, 15th and Pennsylvania Avenue.

My Dad reads the Congressional Record at the library. He said he thinks everything reported is altered before the Record is printed so Congressmen can look good to their constituents. Are floor debates printed in the Record as they actually occur, or are they changed?

—T.R., Bingham

A large portion of the transcript is printed in the Record without any editing. However, a Congressman or Senator is permitted to straighten out his grammar if he wishes, so long as he does not change the substance of his remarks. You may be interested to know that the Congressional Record is not really the official record of what happened in the Senate, although it generally will suffice. Official actions of the Senate, as distinguished from debate, are recorded in the Senate Journal.

This may seem like a petty problem, but no one here seems able to tell us what to do about the high cost of dog licenses in this area. Our seven dogs will end up at the local dog pound if we don't buy licenses. But they are demanding a big increase in the price. Isn't this in violation of price controls? If you had seven dogs, I bet you'd be concerned too.

Sorry, but price controls apply to commercial goods and not to local license fees. The dog license is a form of taxation imposed by your local government, and you will have to take the matter up with local officials.

Organ recital

YPSILANTI — Grace Sponberg, wife of Harold E. Sponberg, president of Eastern Michigan University, will present an organ recital at 8 p.m. May 29 in Pease Auditorium. The performance is a partial fulfillment for a master of arts in Music degree in organ at Eastern. She is a student of Erich Goldschmidt.

Mrs. Sponberg holds a bachelor of arts in music degree from Gustavus Adolphus College, St. Peter, Minn. She was director of music at University Lutheran Church in East Lansing from 1948 to 1956, and has served as church organist at the Marquette Presbyterian Church where the Sponberg family has a summer home.

Included on her program will be Mendelssohn's "Sonata in A Major", three of six Schubert Chorales by Bach, and "Prelude and Fugue in E Minor" by Buxtehude. Three contemporary, liturgical selections by Hugo Distler, Pepping and Ludwig Lenel will complete the program.

Mrs. Sponberg determined early to be a good organist but delayed her studies primarily because of raising five children who are now with one exception, on their own. She follows a family pattern in her musical activities. Her own mother, who had played the violin all her life, began at age 71 to study viola and played in a string quartet four days a week, three with the violin and one with the viola.

Scholarship committee accepts applications

The selection committee of the Carl T. Renton Scholarship Fund is accepting applications for its first grant-in-aid.

Established in memory of the late assistant superintendent and long-time servant of the Huron School District, the fund continues to grow toward the level at which it will become self-sustaining and a permanent source of assistance to worthy Huron students.

The criteria for selection of the student or students to be assisted reflect the desire of Mrs. Carl Renton and the other committee members to offer aid to students not typically eligible for many of the other scholarships available. The scholarship is definitely not just another college scholarship, the committee said.

IT IS INTENDED to assist a student who is strongly motivated toward well thought-out and clearly defined goals, who is willing to earn part of his expense as evidence of his determination to reach those goals, and who has demonstrated his willingness to help others through school and-or community service.

The specific criteria by which recipients of aid will be selected reflect this philosophy.

The applicant must have a definite goal in mind. A prospective dental lab technician or a budding television repairman will stand on an equal footing with an aspiring civil engineer.

The selection committee will be especially interested to see that the applicant has clearly identified his goal and understands the steps by which is to achieve it.

THE APPLICANT ALSO WILL be asked to specify how he will earn part of the money required to attain his goal. He will be asked to supply to the committee two letters of reference that attest to his having given himself voluntarily in school and-or community service.

Scholastic achievement will play a relatively minor role in selection. The student's scholastic achievement in courses relating to his area of special interest will be primarily considered. He will be considered to have met the requirements if his performance in those areas has been good and he is able to furnish to the committee a letter of reference attesting to his attentiveness and reliability in those areas.

The scholarship will pay a percentage of the student's total costs, up to a maximum scholarship grant of $500 per year.

ONCE A STUDENT has been selected he may be supported on a year by year basis for as long as four years if he continues to meet the criteria by which he was originally selected.

Students wishing to apply for assistance may pick up applications from William Miller, principal of the Huron High School in New Boston. The applications are to be returned to him upon completion.

Applications should be completed and returned by June 22.

neighborhood of privately owned homes, except for the city's 101 public housing units," Wilhelm said.

"Homes in this area will be in the $25,000 to $40,000 price range when we're done. It will be a nice neighborhood," he added.

The project area was considered anything but a "nice area" in 1971 when construction first began. Workers clearing the land for the impending development had to dodge bullets fired from the deep undergrowth which grew wildly between the homes scattered along roads which often amounted to nothing more than narrow paths.

Today, there is little evidence of the deep undergrowth, and the only sort of trouble in the neighborhood is the occasional burning of a long-vacant structure in the area.

"IT ISN'T anything against the project," explains Wilhelm, "but something that happens when kids get to playing in these vacant buildings. Someone tosses a match as a joke, and the thing goes up in flames."

"Sometimes after the structures are down, I would like to know who did it, because we could hire them for the demolition crews," he laughed.

The Romulus project will have a net cost of $4.4 million, with the city's share being $750,000 plus another $350,000 in nonmonetary credit being given to the city.

The city is credited with any type of construction, such as the improvement of the Beverly Elementary School and the addition to the Romulus High School, which benefits the general neighborhood.

PAVING in the project area alone cost the urban renewal program $1.2 million. Land acquisition and preparation took up the rest of the cost.

Softball deadline May 31

The deadline for entering the Romulus Jaycee-Romulus Recreation Advisory Board sponsored women's softball league is approaching.

Women have until May 31 to sign up for the softball program, which will pit teams from throughout the city against each other.

The league sponsors are seeking either full teams or individuals willing to play softball. Those wishing to enter the league should call either Mayor Hyle Carmichael at 941-0666 or the Recreation Department at 941-3337.

Four teams, including one from the city, one from the Romulus Jayettes and one from Kelsey Hayes, have already signed up for the program.

Plans call for each team to play each of the other teams in the league, and for the top teams to enter women's softball tournament play after the season.

The season will begin in early June.

Mother of 12 graduates in adult school program

By HENRY CANTIN

A New Boston mother of 12, Mrs. Rosa Mae Shropshire, 49, was among 60 graduates of the Huron School District's Adult Education program's graduation ceremonies.

Mrs. Shropshire, has been attending night classes since 1968 while raising her large family - 11 of whom still are residing at home. She runs the Sumpter Township Clothing Center in Sumpter Township.

The main function of the clothing center is offering donated clothing free of charge to needy children.

The center is open to the public four days of the week. The rest of the week, says Mrs. Shropshire is spent in gathering donated items. The center is a registered non-profit organization.

MRS. SHROPSHIRE said she opened the center in 1969 when she noted the needs of residents while doing some organizational work for the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO). Mrs. Shropshire's husband, Jack, has a heart condition.

In the operation of the center, Mrs. Shropshire said that she received no salary for the work but requests small donations to apply to light and heating bills.

The center also is used for dances and recreational programs by the area's young people.

Mrs. Shropshire attended the Community Education Program offered by a cooperative of Huron, Woodhaven and Flat Rock School Districts under the directorship of Roger Benner of the Huron School District.

He said that more than 100 adults will be receiving high school diplomas from the program this year.

THE PROGRAM is funded by the state and is opened to anyone. The program also offers courses through the Wayne County Community College.

Romulus resident is buried

Nelson Dean Hawley of Romulus, a Sunday school teacher and former long time resident of Sumpter Township died in Wayne County General Hospital Saturday of pneumonia. He was 78.

Funeral services for Mr. Hawley were conducted Tuesday at Roberts Bros. Funeral Home in Belleville. Burial was in Martinsville Cemetery in Sumpter Township.

Mr. Hawley, who was born in Sumpter Township on July 29, 1894, was a member of the Belleville Masonic Lodge. He taught Sunday school at the Bethesda Church in Allen Park when he and his wife, Edna, who also teaches Sunday school, moved to Romulus 26 years ago.

Mr. Hawley is survived by his wife. There were no children or other relatives.

Mr. Hawley worked at the Fisher Body Plant in Detroit and later at Willow Run in a government ice research project.

Residents who have been admiring those attractive miniature barns that are becoming increasingly popular lately may buy them in Romulus.

Shop students at Romulus Senior High School will build them as a class project and sell them for the cost of the materials.

The first little red barn already has been sold and delivered. It was built by students Al Webb and Tom McGhen, both 17-year-old 11th graders. Shop teacher Paul Lammers hopes his students will turn out at least a dozen more.

THE PROJECT is a prelude to classes in building trades to be offered in the fall, Lammers explained, that the boys are learning carpentry in preparation for Building Trades I and II.

The first year, students will construct garages, models of houses and possibly do some remodeling. The following year, the class probably will build a house, the teacher said.

THE CLASS is reimbursed only for the cost of materials. A barn such as the one built by Webb and McGhen will cost the buyer about $300. The cost will depend on the size of the barn and materials used.

Transportation of the finished product to the home of the buyer is arranged by the class and is included in the price.

A PERSON may set the specifications when ordering. Various sizes will be available.

The barn built by Webb and McGhen was placed on a lowboy float and hauled away to the new owner Thursday.

Boys in shop class also have built a selection of dog houses. They also are being offered for sale for the price of materials.

Several models are extra large, suitable for the big dogs. Such large dog houses normally are not available through commercial sources.

DOG HOUSES on hand were constructed of fine grade siding. Such materials were expensive to buy, Lammers pointed out, so the units run in the neighborhood of $20 to $25. However, he added, the cost could be scaled down for smaller units or for persons supplying some of the materials themselves.

Several instances have occurred in which shop classes at Michigan high schools have built houses completely and sold them. One recent instance occurred in Macomb county in which building trades students completed even the electrical and plumbing work in the house.

Lammers is available at the high school each day and said he will welcome inquiries about mini-barns or dog houses.

Police investigate 'overdose death'

Westland Police are holding three suspects in the drug overdose death of Pamela Barber, 21, of 28321 Sibley St., Romulus.

Ms. Barber was pronounced dead on arrival at Wayne County General Hospital early Sunday morning after a Westland Fire Rescue unit was called to a carry-out restaurant on Merriman Road in the city to attempt to revive her.

Three companions were arrested by police, search warrants were obtained for their places of residence.

Police claim they found some apparent drugs in one of the three companion's homes. The substances were turned over to the Michigan State Police crime lab.

Big time wrestlers slated for May 31

The Huron High Athletic Boosters Club will be sponsoring a "Big Time Wrestling Show" May 31 at 8 p.m. in the high school.

Featured performers will be The Mighty Igor, George Steel, Lou Klein, The Great Scott, Heather Feather, Linda Klein, Louie Martin, Dr. Beech, Ivan Kamilos and Rick O'Toole.

Admission is $2.50 for a night of wrestling entertainment.

The club urges all Huron

'It's sort of penance...'

Time for officials to restore integrity

By DON HOENSHELL, Enterprise-Roman Lansing Bureau Chief

LANSING — Political people are flogging themselves with peeled birch switches to restore the picture of misunderstood integrity that has been distorted by the excesses of greed.

It's the sort of penance they do when the people start paying more attention to their deeds than to their words.

There are legislators who would be among the first to agree that there has been an unconscionable greed for power, for the easy life, for the flashy emoluments of office they seize rather than earn.

Politician-watchers are calling it a spillover from Watergate, spelled out at the state level by mini-scandals and threats of retribution at the polls next year.

EVERYBODY IN public office is vulnerable with the public taking a more critical view and a more searching examination of their stewardship.

Gov. William G. Milliken has been sounding the alarm for two years, deploring the cynicism of the public toward politicians and governments. Then his tie dropped in his soup and his words became suspect.

And so the reaction is starting.

Milliken is praising the press as the watchdog of democracy and raising its ink-stained practitioners to sainthood. He issued a Code of Ethics for state governments and appointed a seven-member Board of Ethics.

THERE WILL be a searching examination of his own staff for potential conflicts of interest and State Personnel Director Sidney Singer is ready to put either 47 or 109 executive office staffers under civil service with examinations and all the other restrictions that go with it.

There is promise of more flak with the dictum of Ingham County Circuit Judge Marvin J. Salmon that the no-exam practice of hiring Milliken staffers is unconstitutional.

Two years ago, tighter restrictions were placed on legislative travel — junkets, they were called by the irreverent — and the public spotlight has kept all but the most diligent at home.

Now Senator Robert VanderLaan, R-Kentwood, majority leader in the chamber, is proposing new curbs on legislative mailings and is still thinking about a hard-nosed business manager for the Senate.

And the Senate has a committee on ethics, co-chaired by Senators William S. Ballenger, R-Lansing, and Patrick H. McCollough, D-Deerborn, who are looking into campaign fund-raising and other practices.

THERE HAS grown up a practice of individual legislators, holding testimonial fund-raising dinners for themselves in Lansing where it is easier to lean on lobbyists for tickets than their own constituents.

The success of the fund-raisers has been spotty this year, with the growing demands on lobbyists' expense accounts. It's getting close to the saturation point of energy expended and revenues received.

Now comes Rep. Dale E. Kildee, D-Flint, with a proposal that legislators be required to file a report of campaign contributions within 72 hours with the secretary of state, a further guarantee of purity.

"By reporting campaign contributions 72 hours within receipt, the voters will know prior to the election where the source of most financial support for a candidate is (rather than) after casting their ballots," he said.

"SUCH REPORTS may be too unwieldy for the average citizen to scrutinize," he said. "But, the press, which is the watchdog of the public will have the opportunity to look over these reports and report to the public."

And there will be other demonstration projects in the field to reassure voters that politicians aren't really bad but will promise to get better.

It's not really important whether, at the outset, these efforts, themselves, smack of politics.

What is important is that the people, learning of their details, take the promises implied at full face value and insist that the good ones be enacted and enforced.

If they don't, the sincerity of some of them take on the fabric of just another political con.

Watergate shows need for moral crusade

Psychologically, the sense of national shame resulting from the Watergate scandal shows signs of producing a grass roots demand for a return to the moral standards of the past, both in public and private life.

Many letters reaching congressmen and senators of both parties reflect this call for a crusade of right living.

As expected, the focus is on political reform, but the mood extends beyond that. The impression prevails that more and more people are revolting against dirty movies and newsstand pornography. Even the use of four letter words in polite company — so chic a year ago — is getting frowned upon.

The stripping away of the White House's image as a center of rectitude constitutes one of the more serious wounds sustained by the Nixon Administration in the Watergate affair. How, the public wonders, can so many clean cut looking men have engaged in so many dirty, shabby tricks?

Whatever his mistakes in judgment, President Nixon was one of the first to sense this new national mood. He has suggested that now a golden opportunity exists to overhaul campaign practices to prevent future Watergates.

He has urged leaders of both parties, along with American citizens everywhere, "to join in working toward a new set of standards, new rules and procedures — to ensure that future elections will be as nearly free of such abuses as they possibly can be made."

In retrospect it seems clear that vast amounts of unreported campaign money collected by political allies of the President helped trigger the temptation a year ago to break in and bug the Democratic national headquarters at the Watergate apartment complex — an action the Republican Party may regret for years to come.

So apparently the first need is for Congress to find some foolproof way to eliminate the great amounts of loose cash which float around at presidential election time.

This is not an easy task. As Watergate revealed the new disclosure legislation adopted by Congress in 1971 was almost as ineffective as the old corrupt practices act. One answer may be either complete or partial public financing of presidential, senatorial or congressional elections by means of a checkoff from everyone's federal income tax.

One reform in one area will not solve the nation's problems, however. What is needed is a revival of a national willingness to play by the rules.

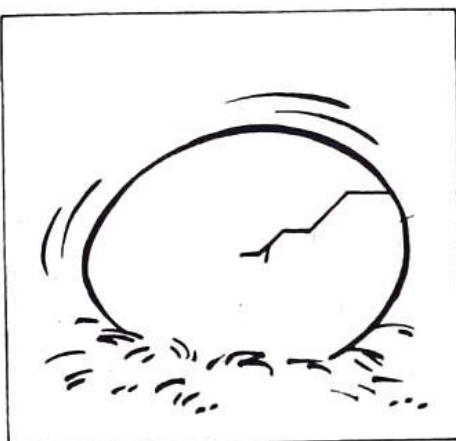

If the White House forgot that this was a country living under the rule of law not of men, it should also be recalled that some of the people who opposed President Nixon operated on shaky grounds themselves.

Tentacles reaching out from the Watergate scandal infected beyond cure the Pentagon papers trial in Los Angeles. Ultimately Federal Judge Matt Byrne had no choice but to dismiss all charges against Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony Russo.

The same newspapers which hailed Ellsberg as a hero and took part in his dissemination of the secret Pentagon report on the Vietnam War have been the hottest on the trail of the Watergate scandal. Maybe they should recheck their sense of basic values.

However, to say this in no way constitutes an excuse for Watergate where some close associates of the President seemed almost determined to set up their own private, secret police apparatus—an ominous activity in a world which remembers how foreign fascist regimes in this century got started.

Time to boast

Michigan Week pride

"Michigan - What You Seek Is What You Get," Michigan Week's new theme this year, has a 1973 ring to it. Derived from Michigan's state motto, "If you seek a pleasant peninsula, look about you" (Si Quaeris Peninsulam Amoenam, Circumspice), the mod theme is just a word and a letter different from the slogan popularized by TV entertainer Flip Wilson.

Theme emphasis is on Michigan, subtly hinting that Michigan has what you want, if you just take the time and effort to go after it. The theme implies that everything good in industry, educational opportunities, recreation, culture, agriculture and natural beauty can be found in Michigan. It ties Michigan into today's mainstream in today's idiom.

Michigan is what Michigan Week is all about. The 20th annual Michigan Week has the same three goals that the first one and each succeeding event has had - to give Michigan citizens a greater knowledge and appreciation of their state; to tell the nation and the world about Michigan's advantages and resources for industry, business, education and recreation, and to foster a spirit of cooperation among all communities and people so that all of Michigan will work together to make the state even more livable and attractive.

Another Michigan Week is upon us - not that Michigan Week is the only time of year we pay attention to our state. But Michigan Week reminds us of our goals, prods us to be aware of what we have going for us in Michigan, invites us once again to tell others about Michigan's good points.

S. Africa offers economic climate

By JOHN P. McGOFF, President
Panax Newspapers
(Part six of 10-part Series)

Africa lives next door show an average real rate of growth of 5½ to 6 per cent for the next 25 to 30 years. It means that by 2000, all South Africans will have a standard of living comparable to that of present day Europe.

THE MINING and agriculture still must remain part of the underlying growth pattern. While they occupy a declining share of the GDP, they are major employers and valuable earners of foreign exchange.

Economists contend that manufacturing must continue to rely on the export earnings of mining and agriculture to finance import requirements.

Mining in particular will play a further strategic role as the leading supplier of uranium, coal, copper, platinum, asbestos, vermiculite, iron manganese, chromium, nickel, tin, and vanadium.

And with sources in Europe and America diminishing rapidly, South Africans predict a 500 per cent level in the world demand for minerals over the next 25 to 30 years.

Gold still occupies a vital position in the economy as an important generator of income in that the industry spends more than $500 million a year on locally-produced goods, is the largest single customer of electricity, and the most important earner of foreign exchange.

GOLD IS the economy's built-in stabilizer and South Africa was untouched by the most recent monetary crisis.

Although occupying only 6 per cent of the continental land area, the Republic of South Africa produces 20 per cent of its agricultural output, supplying its own people and exporting a considerable share of the world's maize, wool, and fish.

Local industries are protected against foreign competition where necessary. Modern harbors, efficient rail, highway, and air transportation systems provide the links to markets and postal, telegraph, and telephone services speed communications.

Scientific and technical institutions have been developed over the past 25 years to help business and industry.

SOUTH AFRICA has the most skilled nonwhite labor force on the continent. The Bantu literacy rate has increased from 21.8 per cent in 1952 to 85 per cent between the ages of 7 and 20 and to 55 per cent for natives as a whole.

And South Africa is building for the present and for the future.

Now under construction is the $15 billion Orange River Project, the largest single water irrigation and hydroelectric complex ever to be undertaken on the African continent. It will increase agricultural production by $200 million a year.

Another project is the Sishen-Saldhana project, a $5 billion development of an iron ore mine in the northwestern part of Cape Province. Still another is a 600-mile rail link to Saldhana Bay, 85 miles north of Cape Town, and a deep water harbor in the bay by 1977.

The Saldhana area is rich in minerals, particularly iron and manganese but lacks infrastructural facilities. Present plans call for an iron and steel complex rivaling the Ruhr in Germany and the Japanese steel producing areas.

TOURISM IS booming in the Republic of South Africa and the statistics validate the impression. Tourists arriving in the country have soared from 22,000 in 1965 to 525,000 in 1972.

The industry is earning the nation more than $200 million a year in foreign exchange and forecasts place it beside gold mining as a lure for dollars.

Nearly $150 million has been invested in the hotel industry over the past 18 months. The accommodations rival the best in the United States and the Carlton Centre at Johannesburg and the Heerenracht Hotel at Cape Town are two of the best in the world.

The black population is responding well to the demands of a developing, highly industrialized economy. Their purchasing power—their share of the action—is projected at $600 million by 2000, or 50 per cent of the country's total national income.

BUSINESS IS gearing up to meet the growing demands of black affluence, beyond the present essentials of food, clothing and housing.

And so South Africa is beckoning the money markets to invest in a wide variety of enterprises, such as commercial properties, township, residential properties — and the new holiday resort bonanza.

South Africa cannot abide a slow growth pattern and the 2.5 per cent population increases each year is considered rapid. The growth is redoubling efforts to ensure rising standards for both blacks and whites.

GOVERNMENT IS flexible and becoming more flexible on the racial policies which have raised worldwide controversy and the policies are constantly being scrutinized and re-evaluated.

The changes have been visible since my last visit four years ago — but the changes have been controlled to avoid chaos and damage to the progress already made by the underdeveloped people of the land.

While South African economy has matured to the point that it is virtually capable of financing their own growth, foreign investment still has commodities to offer: technical know-how and managerial skills.

Voice of the people

Urges attendance

To the editor:

To the taxpayers of the Van Buren Public School System: Do you as taxpayers of this school system realize that your schools are operated on the taxes you pay? Also that the school board is the unit within this system that decides how much money is spent on what, concerning school matters.

If so, why don't you attend more school board meetings to see where or for what your money is being spent. Everytime a school millage is requested everyone gets upset because taxes are too high already, yet few attend the meetings to see where the money could be used or why more is needed.

It is even worse when the school board can contract our bus service to a private company spending our tax money without as much as one taxpayer's consent by vote. How can each of us let them do it?

I always thought that the school board was elected to represent the taxpayers and operate the schools the way the people wanted them to be operated.

How can you know how well our schools are being operated without attending at least one or two meetings in one school year?

Lately the people of the Van Buren School system have had no interest in their schools.

People, start attending the school board meetings and find out what your money is being spent for and other decisions the school board makes.

It is your school and it is your children that are affected by the decisions of the school board. So take interest and start attending the meetings.

If not for your own sake then how about those affected, your children.

Dying history

To the Editor:

Belleville, I remember you for your caring neighbors, your beautiful trees, your safe streets, and your homes and shops. People cared, they knew you and your folks.

I am saddened to see what you've chosen to destroy. The little depot with its quaint gingerbread. It will soon be leveled — WHY — it is part of the history of your city. It was built before the turn of the century. No one cared to preserve it or even see if Greenfield Village could use it for their little railroad, they seemed quite interested when I called. When I called the District Engineer in Fort Wayne, Indiana, he had already contracted for the depot's destruction. He had tried for almost two years to get the city to take it.

If you haven't been to Girls Town, to see the beauty of another era, I suggest you do it soon, for it will not be standing much longer, I am told, and you will be missing another of the grand old homes of Belleville. For what reason is it being destroyed? Ask your city fathers!

Everytime I come across the bridge to the city, I shudder to look at the sky line, for in every direction I see apartments. You were a place to raise children, a place of safety, and through your smallness you had quality and strength.

I wonder what the children of today, will remember tomorrow.

AN AWARENESS of problems created in major U.S. cities has made South Africa conscious and cautious in its industrial development. Smog research is conducted by the National Physical Research Institute, one of the constituent bodies of the South African Council for Scientific and Industrial Research. The amount of pollution is being measured in the vicinity of a factory.

Trouble shooting is today

The annual Plymouth Trouble Shooting Contest, often called "the Olympic Games of the auto mechanics students of this area will be held today at Oakland Shopping Mall, Troy.

The students will be competing in one of 113 regional contests being held in all 50 states this spring under the sponsorship of Plymouth dealers and participating schools. Regional contest winners receive all-expense trips to the National Trouble Shooting Finals at Boston June 25, 26, and 27.

Area schools with teams competing include: Garden City East; Huron High, Wayne Memorial High; New Boston; Churchill High, Livonia; Romulus Senior High; and Belleville High.

IN ADDITION to the trip and a chance to visit many historic Boston landmarks, prizes and awards in the National Finals are worth more than $90,000 in college scholarships and other prizes for the contestants, and trophies, tools and automobile components for their schools.

At the National Finals, each member of each first-place team wins a $2,500 scholarship. A total of $37,000 worth of scholarships is offered.

Each team participating in the National Finals receives a complete set of tools for its school, and those placing among the winners receive for their schools new Plymouth engines and transmissions for instructional use in each school's auto mechanics shop.

TROUBLE SHOOTERS sometimes called "Road Scholars", have to hit the books before they can hit the road to Boston and the National Finals. They have to be outstanding in their classes to qualify for a regional contest, and they must be top students and auto mechanics to win in the regional meet.

Teams consist of two students, who are assigned to a new car in which a series of malfunctions have been deliberately placed.

Malfunctions in all cars are identical, and all are related to the electrical, starting, ignition, fuel systems and body hardware of the cars. Teams race the clock and each other to find and fix the "bugs" and restore their cars to normal running order.

TO WIN, however, a team must receive high marks in a written examination which is part of the contest and which contributes to the final score.

The program is sponsored by the schools and Plymouth dealers in the area as a means of encouraging students to complete their education.

Dance recital set Friday

The Cory Parent Teacher Association, assisted by the Gordonier PTA, will sponsor a dance recital Friday at the Romulus High School auditorium.

Approximately 200 students, from kindergarten through fifth grade, will participate in the program. The young dancers were rehearsed for the program by the Lee Cox Dance Studio in Romulus.

The program is scheduled to start at 7:15 p.m. and is open to the public.

Lake management bill introduced

State Rep. Gary M. Owen (D-Ypsilanti) has introduced a bill (H.B. 4785) that gives the power to local units to establish Inland Lake Management Boards. The boards, to be approved, have to be submitted to the people of the area affected for vote.

The board, if approved, would have the power to levy one mill taxes for operating costs to manage all activities directly concerned with the lake, including safety, pollution control, establishment of rehabilitation programs, and authorize recreation and condemnation powers.

Owen said that the bill overused inland lakes.

Owen made special reference to two impoundments located on the Huron River in the Ypsilanti area. Owen said the two lakes, Ford and Belleville, are heavily polluted and in their present condition present a health problem to the residents of his district.

The Lake Management Board would allow these local units to establish an autonomous board to deal with the severe problems of these and other inland lakes throughout the state.

Owen also stated the need for the one mill tax was to

Glover-Rohler wed

Acapulco honeymoon follows May 11 vows

The newly wed Jacob Anthony Glovers traveled to Acapulco, Mexico for their honeymoon following their May 11 marriage at Berean Baptist Church. They are now residing at 8701-270 Belleville Road, Belleville.

Valerie Jean Rohler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Rohler of 8559 Belleville Road, Belleville, became Mrs. Glover in a five o'clock ceremony presided over by the Rev. Fred Miller. A rose arch, red and white roses and carnations formed the setting for the double ring rite which was witnessed by some 250 guests including an aunt of the bridegroom who had traveled 1300 miles from Manitoba, Canada. Others were from Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo, Utica and neighboring cities.

GIVEN IN MARRIAGE by her father, Valerie appeared in a white gown of silk organza and lace designed with long lace sleeves and a high lace neckline accented with a bow. Her skirt was fashioned of three tiers of lace and her headpiece was also made of organza and lace. Completing her bridal finery was a bouquet of white roses interspersed with red and pink sweetheart roses and matching ribbon.

As her cousin's maid of honor, Pamela McMillan of Dearborn donned a blue organza gown with a high ruffled neckline and white lace trim. Her bouquet was comprised of red sweetheart roses and pink ribbons.

Wearing similar gowns in a lighter shade of blue were the four bridesmaids, Mrs. Mike Shirley and Mrs. Tim Miller of Belleville; and Darlene Ring and the bridegroom's sister, Libby Glover, both of Plymouth.

Flowergirl was Lisa Carman of Dearborn and ringbearer was Mike Fitzgerald of Lansing, the bride's cousin. Lisa's blue organza frock had bows at the neck and waist and she wore a matching ribbon in her hair.

THE BRIDEGROOM, son of the Pat Glovers of Cherry Hill Road, Plymouth, asked Darryl Clark of Belleville to be best man. Ushers, in blue crushed velvet tuxedos, were George Rohler, brother of the bride; Mel Glover of Dresden, Canada, cousin of the bridegroom; and Butch Longwish and Mike Robacher, both of Plymouth.

At the Washtenaw Country Club, where the reception was held Mrs. Rohler regaled guests in a pink organza trimmed with sequins the bridegroom's mother in coral taffeta. Both presented with white nations accented to m their gowns.

For traveling, the new Mr. Glover changed to a black white pant suit with w accessories.

A 1970 graduate of Belleville High School, Valerie earned her LPN degree at the Licensed Practical Nurse School in Ann Arbor. She currently employed at Wayne County General Hospital.

Her husband, a 1971 alumnus of Plymouth High School, is employed at Belleville Manor's Mobile Homes Park and Sales.

Reservations for 30 guests were made by the Pat Glovers for the rehearsal dinner which was held at Casa Nova Restaurant in Ypsilanti.

CLUB VISITOR — Ingrid Huber (right), Belleville High School's exchange student from Lampertheim, Germany, was a special guest at the May meeting of the Belleville Business Club.

Miss Huber, who will return to her homeland in July to complete studies there, gave an informative talk on her country. She was introduced by Betty Savage (left) chairman.

Kiwanians, wives tour Children's Hospital

A LADIES NIGHT was on the agenda May 15 for the Belleville Kiwanis Club. Second vice-president John Touse, who also handles program arrangements, planned an evening at Mott Children's Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Before touring the facilities, members sat down to dinner in a private dining room at University Hospital where a brief meeting was conducted by Don Meyer, president.

Forming into two groups, the 17 couples were then shown throughout the hospital by Director of Hospital Schools, Dean Lidgard, and Elementary Curriculum Co-ordinator, Miss Dana Lanning.

With the exception of the isolation and intensive care wards, the visitors were able to visit each floor and learn of its function. Accommodations for parents, such as 24-hour visiting and sleep-in privileges, were also pointed out.

Also on the tour were the chapel, recreation room, library, rooftop play area, visiting rooms, patients' rooms and wards, and the rehabilitation centers.

Since Kiwanis Clubs throughout Michigan are instrumental in providing funds for use in the hospital's school system, the group was especially interested in visiting the classrooms — one on each floor and each geared to that floor's particular age group.

The evening concluded with an interesting and informative question and answer period back in the recreation room.

Baby is baptized on Mother's Day

SIX MONTHS OLD Jack Andrew Middlebrook (who's called 'Andy') received the sacrament of baptism on Mother's Day at Christ Episcopal Church in Adrian. The Rev. Jack Warner presided at the ceremony following the ten o'clock service with Pat and Kathy Ringwelski of Belleville serving as the baby's God-parents.

Later in the day, some 35 friends and relatives gathered for a buffet dinner at the Hayes Street home of Jack and Gayle Middlebrook, the baby's parents. Guests were present from Hamburg, Adrian, Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, and Belleville.

Beth receives stewardess wings

THE BURCROFFS — Jack and Dorothy E. Huron River Drive — spent two days recently in Kansas City, Missouri where they saw their daughter, Beth, receive her wings as a TWA stewardess. Graduating from Breech Training Academy, Beth was among 110 girls in the International Flight Class. Currently based in New York City, she will be assigned to overseas flights.

Beth, who also received the T.P.H.A. Award as outstanding girl in her class, attended the company cocktail party which followed with her parents and later was their guest at dinner at Top of the Towers in the Alameda Plaza Hotel.

A 1970 graduate of Belleville High School, Beth attended Hillsdale College for two years and was employed at the Hilton-Metro before enrolling in the airlines program.

Pajama party is a 'first' for Shannon

HER EIGHTH birthday is a day Shannon Alvaroe will long remember since it was also occasion for her very first pajama party. Invited to the James Alvaroe home on Lauren Court for the event were Pam Graham, Karen Sierota, Cindy Fitch, and Jane Kause.

The following day Shannon celebrated her birthday with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bravatto and also her uncle and aunt, the junior Louis Bravattos and their children, Louis Joseph and Lori Anne. Also attending were Shannon's God-father and family, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Walters of Ypsilanti.

Moms, daughters attend banquet

Mothers and daughters, 190 in all, enjoyed a spaghetti supper at St. Anthony's Church Wednesday, May 9. Adding a springtime touch to the proceedings were bouquets of fresh-cut purple and white lilacs which centered the tables.

Entertainment after dinner included an accordion ensemble, Claudia Collins and Michele and Monica Stypelkoski, playing "The Allegro Trio" and "Tick Tock Polka". The Choraliers from North Junior High School also presented a medley of tunes under the direction of Mrs. Thume.

A number of awards were then presented in various categories. Red geranium plants went to Mrs. Margaret Hanna and Mrs. Power for having the "most experience" in life, both being 83 years of age. Mrs. Debbie Ables was the newest bride present, having been married in November of 1972.

Bottomless oceans, beaches, trenches, mountains, valleys and rice paddies - from distant away lands bring names and places to mind on Memorial Day. Strange names and places in Viet Nam; weird names in Korea. Never to be forgotten names and places like Bastogne, Okinawa, Algeria, Morocco, Guadalcanal, Midway, Java Sea, Bataan, Pearl Harbor. And before these - Verdun, Marne, Belleau Wood, Flanders, Chateau-Thierry. Also San Juan, San Juan Hill, Manila Bay. And in the long ago - Shiloh, Vicksburg, Gettysburg.

All these and other names and places of devastating days of death and tears come to mind on Memorial Day. These sort of names and places of courage, blood and total sacrifice will forever keep Memorial Day on our calendar. These sort of names and places will sorrowfully keep Tennyson's words alive - "Some one had blundered... Theirs not to make reply... Theirs not to reason why... Theirs but to do and die..."

DeLisle-Shewman vows exchanged

In a May 5 ceremony at the First United Methodist Church of St. Joseph, Barbara J. Shewman and Tim E. De Lisle, both of Benton Harbor, exchanged nuptial vows. The couple, who spent their honeymoon in Aruba, Netherlands Antilles, are now making their home in Kirtland, Ohio.

The bride is the daughter of the Robert C. Shewmans of 1337 Agard, Benton Harbor, and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adger A. Wall of E. Huron River Drive, Belleville. Mrs. and Mrs. Howard R. De Lisle of 1400 Vickerson, Benton Harbor, are parents of the bridegroom.

For her wedding, the bride chose an ivory silk organza over taffeta gown accented with a chapel train and beaded lace appliques. Her shoulder-length veil in matching ivory drifted from a crown of alencon lace appliques and her bridal bouquet was comprised of white sweetheart roses, stephanotis, carnations, and baby's breath.

THE BRIDE asked her sister, Aileen, to serve as honor attendant. Bridesmaids were Valerie Musat of Canton, Ohio, Valerie Guido of Leontonia, Ohio, and Barbara Bieber of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

Their A-line gowns were of ivory crepe with embossed lilac flowers and their headgear featured ivory velvet bows and long streamers securing purple statice and baby's breath. Their bouquets were fashioned of lavender carnations, baby's breath and purple statice.

Kristin Wall of Williamstown, Ohio, and Erik Exum of St. Joseph carried out the roles of flowergirl and ringbearer, respectively.

Best man was Roger Viland of South Russell, Ohio and groomsmen included Thomas McGill of Chesterland, Ohio; Daniel Shewman, brother of the bride from Kalamazoo; and James Exum of St. Joseph.

A RECEPTION for the young couple followed at the St. Joseph Kickers Club in Arden.

A 1969 graduate of Benton Harbor High School and a 1973 cum laude graduate of Baldwin-Wallace College, Berea, Ohio, the bride affiliated with Delta Zeta, Psi Chi psychology honorary and Kappa Delta Pi, education honorary.

Her husband, a 1967 alumnus of Benton Harbor High, graduated magna cum laude in 1971 from Baldwin-Wallace College. His affiliations include Sigma Phi Epsilon, Omicron Delta Kappa and the Dayton C. Miller academic honorary. He is employed by Proctor and Gamble in Cleveland.

Home Arts Club

Fashion 'originals' modeled at banquet

Leuthausen's in Saline was reserved May 14 for the annual spring banquet of the Home Arts Club. Thirty-seven members and 13 guests took part in the buffet dinner and program which followed.

President Dorothy Florian extended the welcome and asked members to introduce their guests who included Peggy Chizmar, Ilene Fabera, Jan Sierota, Mary Anne Hudge, Phyllis Breithaupt, Gloria Jahner, Eleanor Meece, Gayle Miller, Kathy Avery, Lois Wilson, Eda Giblin, Donna Gilley, and Barbara Holman.

Program chairman, Bev Sparrow, then introduced Muriel Ciesielski of Milan, a teacher of voice, piano and organ who presented three of her senior students in a musicale. Carolyn Gilmore, Marietta Dicken and Raylene Jorgensen entertained with several vocal and piano numbers ranging from an aria from Samson and Delilah to the theme from Cabaret.

MRS. CIESIELSKI, coincidentally, has a definite link with the Home Arts Club since she was one of several women instrumental in its formation some 26 years ago when she was a resident of Belleville.

Following the mini-recital, Mrs. Florian again took the podium to thank her executive board, Elaine Guitierrez, Audrey Tabor, Avis White, Barb Forsythe, and Bev Sparrow for their support and assistance in the past year. She then relinquished the gavel to Mrs. Guitierrez who, in turn, presented her with a gift from the club. The new president also announced the results of the April election, her fellow officers for the 1973-74 club year being Sharon Matthews, vice-president; Beverly Eichold, recording secretary; Sally Jones, corresponding secretary; Elaine Habel, treasurer; and Kathy Miller, program chairman.

The spotlight then was turned on 12 members who promenade in a most 'original' fashion show featuring a number of unique fashions. Theora Wilkie opened the show (which was narrated by Avis White) by modeling a 'box jacket' (a cardboard carton cleverly constructed into wearing apparel.)

KATHY MILLER appeared in a multi-colored 'tissue' creation by Waldorf and Muriel Wolfe was in a 'candy stripe' by Brach. Shar Tator's cute 'spring' coat was accented with birds, bees and flowers while Janet Patterson's 'tea gown' featured a fringe of old English Lipton lace.

Audrey Tabor's 'dinner gown' by Rogers and Lenox was designed from white damask with Sally Jones' gown highlighted by a variety of buttons and bows.

The 'pin-stripe' frock worn by Sharon Matthews was fringed with clip clothes pins while her Lily Dache hat bore a suspicious resemblance to a pin cushion.

Probably the 'biggest' hit was the cocktail gown modeled by Judy Mendel whose little white apron (over a brief black costume) was splashed with nibbles and tidbits of the cocktail variety. Her make-up was designed by Charles of the Blitz.

LOOKING 'EXTRA' cute was Elaine Habel in the latest thing in 'print' frocks — news print fashioned into a two-piece ensemble; her matching cartwheel hat being a real 'scoop' in fashions by Pulitzer.

And really getting the show 'off the ground' was pom pon girl, Virginia Turney, who was absolutely fetching as she led a few cheers in her slipover sweater (just that — a slip over sweater.)

Bringing the show to a close was Carol Fitch in a designer evening gown which prompted the question, is it a dream or night mare?

Following the delightful fashion parade, Mrs. Florian acknowledged the program committee which had planned the entire evening: Bev Sparrow, Eula Haft, Carolyn Hyde, and Judy Mendel.

Advice 'while you're waiting'

If you're a mother-to-be, chances are the day you're looking forward to most is the day your baby will arrive.

Sure, you still have a lot of things to do. There's that extra bedroom to paint and a crib to buy. And, even though you've been postponing it, you're going to have to break the news to your mother-in-law someday that, if it's a girl, you're not going to name her Matilda. Nevertheless, you're impatient for the big day.

Nine months can seem like a long time but, Metropolitan Life Insurance Company emphasizes, they can be crucial to your baby's well-being.

If you suspect you're pregnant, the insurance company strongly advises that you seek professional care early. If you do not have a family doctor and if cost is a consideration, your local health department or community hospital should be able to refer you to a clinic where you can receive help. Many clinics, it's true, are crowded but even long waits to see a professional staff member are worth it. Prematurity, toxemia and other complications—most of which are preventable with care—are most common among women who have had no prenatal care.

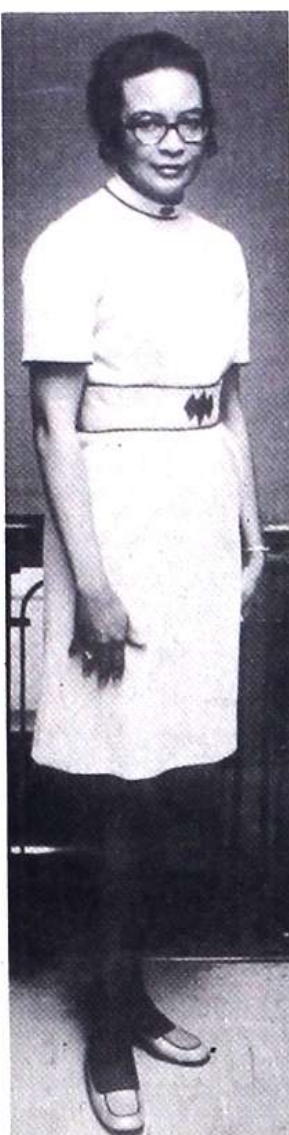

Your doctor will want you to come for regular visits—probably once a month for the first six months, then more frequently. Don't be embarrassed to ask him any questions you might have, even if you're sure they're "silly." Tell him about any problems such as morning sickness, constipation and varicose veins. And don't hesitate to let him know of any worries you may have concerning the adjustments you and your husband are faced with now that the baby is on the way.

One thing your doctor will probably mention is diet. It's true that you're now eating for two, and recent nutritional studies strongly indicate that your baby's well-being depends a lot on how wisely you choose the foods you eat during this critical period. While weight gains are no longer limited for most women, the important thing is not to eat more but to eat well. Stressed is the importance of a diet rich in protein—plenty of milk, chicken, fish, meat and eggs. Vegetables, fruits and enriched and whole grain cereals and bread are also necessary.

And, if you should have a sudden urge for pickles and ice cream, don't be alarmed. Some doctors believe that these yearnings for special foods satisfy an emotional need during a stress period and, if your doctor is satisfied with your weight, enjoy them.

Normal light housework is fine. In fact, the bending that you do when you work around the house helps to strengthen muscles that are especially important when you are having a baby. But be careful about lifting heavy things, moving furniture, climbing on ladders or chairs and getting over-tired. Let your husband help you. Being able to express his concern in a very real way will probably make him feel good, too.

Breakfast popularity can be built with variety of smoked, fresh pork

Breakfast, often ordinary or even overlooked, can begin the day in fine fashion if given half a chance. Usually handicapped by routine menu and rushed dining, the morning meal can come into its own on the weekend.

Here's where pork enters the picture to arouse in different appetites and renew energy, setting the pace for a bright and productive day. Play it easy with sausage links or patties, bacon, sliced ham or panfried pork chops. Or play it fancy with a Sausage Quiche or Canadian Bacon Parfaits.

The momentum built with such inviting weekend morning meals may carry the good breakfast habit through the week, predicts Reba Staggs, home economist of the National Live Stock & Meat Board.

PANFRIED PORK CHOPS
4 to 8 pork chops, cut 1/2 inch thick

1 tablespoon lard or drippings
Pan fry pork chops in hot fat in large frying-pan over moderate heat for 10 to 12 minutes or until done, turning occasionally. Do not overcook. Remove to hot platter. Season. 2 to 4 servings.

BACON PARFAITS

6 slices Canadian-style bacon, cut 1/2 inch thick
1 1/2 teaspoons prepared mustard
6 pineapple slices
6 cling peach halves
6 slices (3 to 4-inch squares) mozzarella cheese

Natural without nonsense

There's nothing wrong with the "natural" look — nobody wants to be a brassy blonde wearing outrageous-red lipstick — but that's no reason to confuse natural good looks with simple sloppiness. The brainiest beauties make the most of themselves — looking natural, only better than nature manages without help. That means deceptively-simple makeup (the most looking like the least), haircoloring that enhances nature instead of letting age and abuse take their course. There's nothing anti-nature about perking up your own hair color, or covering grey strands that make a woman look unnaturally old. Nothing difficult about it, either. Today's Nice 'n Easy haircolorings are the simple shampoo-in type. No excuse for looking less than your best — not when today's naturally beautiful look is so easy to achieve.

Tulip Festival in Ottawa on through June 2

Gift of bulbs from grateful Dutch queen made it possible

Summer weather is just around the corner when it's Tulip Festival time in Ottawa. The festival opened Friday and runs through June 2.

Every year in May Canada's capital puts on the largest tulip show on the North American continent. Two hundred varieties of tulips of almost every conceivable color blossoms along the city's scenic driveways, around public buildings, monuments, embassies and private homes. Over 3,000,000 individual flowers herald the re-awakening of nature.

During the two weeks there are more than 50 separate events planned as part of the festival.

Highlight of the Festival is, of course, the tulips themselves. Picture the stately gothic Parliament Buildings surrounded by thousands of multi-colored tulips. Wander the walks along Dow's Lake, the single most concentrated display area with more than 150,000 bulbs in glorious bloom. Drive a bicycle or walk along the area's miles of flower-lined driveways.

Be sure to take a camera. The third annual tulip Festival color photography contest offers a grand prize of a fully-paid weekend for two in the National Capital, $100 spending money and an engraved sterling silver tulip trophy for the best color print or slide of the tulips. The contest is open to any amateur photographer and starts as soon as the first tulip blooms.

Special events have been scheduled at the National Arts Centre. There will be a Craftsman's Market on the Terrace; the National Arts Centre Theatre production of George Bernard Shaw's "Mrs. Warren's Profession" running nightly until the end of the festival; the Charlottetown Festival's production of the Canadian opera "Ballade" and on May 27, bandleader Guy Lombardo and His Royal Canadians.

The beginnings of the festival go back to 1945 when the people of the Netherlands sent a gift of 100,000 hand-picked tulip bulbs to Canada in appreciation of the role Canadian troops played in liberating Holland. These bulbs were planted in front of the Parliament Buildings and along the Driveway. The resulting beautiful display received generous praise from Ottawans and visitors alike.

Queen Juliana of the Netherlands, who has spent the war years in Canada during Holland's occupation, arranged for a personal annual presentation of bulbs to celebrate the birth of her daughter, Princess Margriet, in Ottawa in 1943. To ensure that the princess was born a citizen of the Netherlands the Canadian government proclaimed her room in the Ottawa Civic Hospital to be part of Holland.

The annual gift of tulip bulbs led to the Ottawa Board of Trade sponsoring the first official Tulip Festival in 1951. Each year it has grown until now it is the second largest floral display in the world. Only the Keukenhof Gardens in Holland are larger.

However, beautiful Ottawa itself has attractions other than the Tulip Festival to offer visitors. Visit the Canadian Parliament Buildings, dominated by the 300-foot Peace Tower, and view the splendid chambers where Canada's legislators meet. Tour Government House, the stately home of the governor-general. Or visit the Canadian Mint, the National Museums, the scenic Sparks Street Mall, and the National Gallery. Cross the river to neighboring Hull, Quebec, for the French-Canadian atmosphere and the beauty of the Gatineau Hills.

Ottawa is also situated on the route of one of the finest boating cruises in North America. May will bring the first rush of pleasure boats on the Rideau Waterway, a picturesque chain of lakes, rivers and canals, connecting Ottawa to Kingston, 100 miles away.

The Canadian Tulip Festival will truly be an eye-opening beginning for a fun-filled summer.

For more information about the Canadian Tulip Festival or Canada's capital, contact the Canadian Government Travel Bureau or Bureau headquarters at 150 Kent St., Ottawa, Canada, K1A 0H6.

Mackinaw City pageant slated

MACKINAW CITY--Preparations are complete in this Straits community for the 11th annual re-enactment of the Indian victory over the British in 1763. The Fort Michilimackinac Pageant is scheduled for May 26, 27, 28.

The historically accurate, two-hour drama depicts the lives of the fort, its inhabitants and the Indians at that time.

The cast, 200 of them, are all local residents who play the various roles of Indians, British soldiers, French traders and their families. The performances are staged each afternoon of the Memorial Day weekend on the grounds of the reconstructed Fort Michilimackinac. Bleacher seats arrayed before the main gate afford an excellent view as history unfolds through a narrator.

The episode of colonial days was one of several battles planned to overcome the British at several frontier strongpoints on the frontier of the Northwest Territory. The use of a bagatelle (lacrosse) game by the Indians diverted the garrison and led to the capture of the fort.

The plan, devised by Chief Pontiac, was brilliantly conceived to be executed on the same day at all of the frontier forts but was carried out two days earlier than planned. The effect was the same however, as the British were defeated.

A parade is scheduled at 2:30 Saturday afternoon prior to the performance at the Fort. Other activities include muzzle-loader demonstrations and authentic Indian dance competition staged by Boy Scouts Order of the Arrow.

AREA STUDENTS IN OTTAWA—Parliament Hill provided the picturesque setting as 50 members of an Automobile Club of Michigan-sponsored school safety patrol delegation were officially welcomed to this Canadian capital by Ottawa Tulip Festival Queen Judy Rayner. Miss Rayner presented safety patrollers (left to right) James Goings, 11, of 30155 Richland, Livonia, Jefferson School, and Bryan Cornellier, 12, of 6901 Bison, Westland, Tonquish School, with a bouquet of tulips. The patrollers reciprocated by giving the lovely young lady a pair of authentic wooden shoes from the Wooden Shoe Factory in Holland, Mich., which held its annual tulip festivities last week. The City of Holland provided Miss Rayner with the Dutch costume she is wearing. The Michigan patrollers arrived in Ottawa last Thursday to take part in the 13th Annual Canadian National Safety Patrol Rally. The group visited the Canadian Parliament, were hosted at a reception at the Governor General of Canada's residence and marched in the annual parade on Capitol Hill with 7,000 Canadian safety patrollers. The Michigan group took the four-day, all-expense-paid trip as guests of Automobile Club of Michigan. This is the second consecutive year that patrol members visited Ottawa.

Metroparks geared for crowds

Favorable weather may bring record-breaking crowds to the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority parks serving the citizens of Wayne, Macomb, Oakland, Livingston and Washtenaw counties during the three-day Memorial Holiday weekend from Saturday, May 26, through Monday, May 28.

Last year good weather plus the Monday holiday rule gave the Metroparks the highest 3-day totals in four years, with 409,527 visitors in 1972 compared to 374,954 in 1971, 265,261 in 1970 and 308,093 in 1969. Individual park totals are:

Metropolitan Beach (550 acres) near Mount Clemens on Lake St. Clair had 80,820 visitors for the Memorial weekend in 1972 compared to 75,100 in 1971, 51,800 in 1970 and 64,800 in 1969.

STONY CREEK Metropark (3,900 acres) near Utica and Rochester had 104,400 for the 3-day Memorial week-end in 1972, with 84,400 in 1971, 75,700 in 1970 and 99,400 in 1969.

Kensington Metropark (4,300 acres) near Milford had 116,000 visitors for the Memorial holiday in 1972, compared to 104,400 in 1971, 75,700 in 1970 and 99,400 in 1969. No attendance figures are available for Marshbank Metropark, covering 115 acres, southwest of Pontiac.

Lower Huron Metropark (1,200 acres) near Belleville had 63,670 visitors for the 3-day Memorial Day holiday in 1972, compared to 72,000 in 1971, 52,900 in 1970 and 48,350 in 1969.

Delhi, Dexter-Huron and Hudson Mills Metroparks (from 45 to 935 acres) located from 5 to 12 miles northwest of Ann Arbor along the Huron River, had a combined total of 38,954 visitors in 1972 for the holiday weekend. Comparative totals are: 35,294 in 1971; 22,761 in 1970; and 19,843 in 1969.

Willow Metropark, a 1,500 acre site under development near New Boston, had 5,683 visitors in 1972, compared to 3,760 in 1971, with the first public use after Memorial Day in 1970.

James J. Pompo, deputy director, noted that when Memorial Day was observed on May 30 crowds generally peaked on that particular day, however, during the past two years with the Monday holiday rule, attendance at the Metroparks is about evenly divided on both Sunday and Monday, providing weather conditions are equal.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Your mind should now be preoccupied with the various odds and ends connected with the duties facing you. Make sure you do not get involved in any discussion of a romantic or emotional nature, or you will become very confused and unable to accomplish work that could be well done otherwise.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Get busy at tasks at hand and stop worrying, then you get rid of your problems easily. Plan some time for improving your health. Avoid the social in p.m. and get a good rest.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Plan time for a new hairdo, fitting, or whatever else can make you look more charming, feel more sure of yourself. Getting out for recreation is fine, but don't go beyond your budget. Show you have imagination.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Try to please kin today and get rid of whatever it is that makes discord with them. Fine p.m. for entertaining, but make sure arrangements are just right. Don't be too extravagant. Dress well.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) More care in driving is wise today, or trouble could develop. Handle practical affairs in a wise way, and be sure to doublecheck for errors. Don't waste time with gossip.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Building up your holdings is most wise at this time, since the planets are favorable. Don't be secretive with a business expert. Use your good judgment and forget your intuitive perceptions, which are apt to be wrong right now.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Once your important work is done, be sure to do something constructive about your health and appearance. Show you are a perfectionist where social matters are concerned. Think.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) If you are careful about little things, you find more affection and romance can be yours. See to it that your home is immaculate. Plan time to be of assistance to a good friend.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Forget working so hard and do something to deepen present friendships. Make better plans to gain your personal aims. Avoid some situation that could get you into trouble, however.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) A good day for doing well whatever work requires exactness and neatness. Show bigwig that you support his ideas. Loyalty can bring you the backing you want and need.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Ideal day to be with delightful persons at charming places and to understand better how to improve the future. A talk with a philosophically minded person helps you gain your ambitions more easily. Avoid one who gossips too much.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Plan how to get along better with creditors and debtors. Use your intuition and know how to have more understanding with mate. Stop being so self-sacrificing, if that is your trouble. Think.

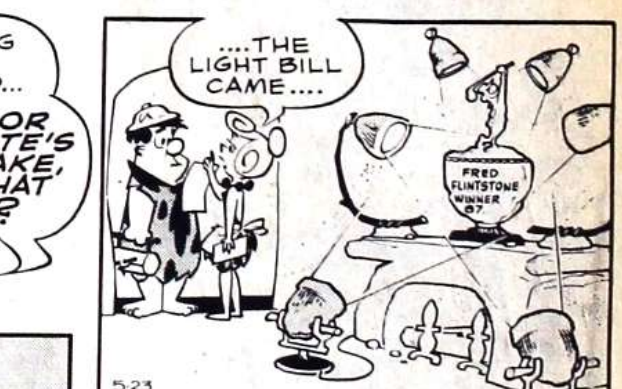

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Conversing with close ties and associates can bring about more understanding and better ideas for the future. Don't put up with one who nags. Quietly absent yourself. Take it easy tonight and be happy with mate.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those delightful young people who early in life will require more rest than most others since the nature is sensitive and cannot take too much noise, etc., around. Teach early to complete whatever has once been commenced, then this can become a successful chart in whatever the forte may be. Teach to reach decisions more readily, also. The lighter sports are good here and religion is a must and a joy to your offspring.

DON'T WASTE NATURAL GAS.

Bea Rankin is no "pot-watcher"—but her Gas range is.

That's because Bea's Gas range has the Burner-with-a-Brain—the Gas-saving feature that provides the exact amount of heat for every food. So if Bea is busy elsewhere, or just plain forgets, her Burner-with-a-Brain adjusts the heat for her—automatically.

Today, Natural Gas does so many things so well—so inexpensively—that we should make sure we don't waste it.

You can help conserve Natural Gas if you'll cover your saucepans for faster cooking, use the lowest heat required for the job, cook one-dish skillet meals occasionally, and use a pressure cooker for steam cooking.

And if your range needs replacing, see the new, efficient, Gas-saving models at appliance dealers or Michigan Consolidated Gas Company business offices.

Of garage

Sports life spurs expansion

In a word association game, "car" usually follows "garage." In some households, however, the muttered sequel might well be "bedlam."

There is no end — variety or quantity — to the goods and gadgets people collect, believing they may come in handy for future chores or outings.

Sports and camping gear essential to their active life caused a storage shortage for one family, compounded by a need for shelter for their four-wheel-drive vehicle.

Their modest garage could handle yard gear and patio furniture on one side, with workbench, tools and materials lining the other. Any more left the family car out in the cold with the wagon.

Both problems were solved by a carport addition beside the garage with new storage conveniently located in the loading area.

The connecting windbreak wall was raised to open adequate space overhead for tying luggage or a boat on top of the oversize wagon.

Use pillows as accents

Once used primarily for sleeping, today's homemakers are using pillows for unusual and unique decorating accents. Leading designers have added bold, bright pillows to enhance their room settings

This wall then was faced with 1- x 6-inch western cedar siding matching house and garage.

By preserving a change in grade between carport and garage, different driveways and roof lines balance the combined structures. Light-colored paint and vertical patterned siding also minimize mass.

Along the open side of the carport, a screen of spaced 1- x 4-inch cedar boards repeats the airy pattern of border fencing that adjoins the house. Six-by-six-inch posts support both screen panels and roof.

Design and planning provided for a line of cab-height cupboards on the inside wall with top counter surface for stacking gear before stowing or loading.

Everything from campstove to cooler, fishing tackle to yard darts, finds a spot on especially compartmented, sturdy western pine shelves.

With its auto tenant parked in the driveway, the carport becomes an accessible yet pleasantly sheltered alternate patio or play area.

SPORTS LIFE SPURS EXPANSION — For family with stacks of sports and camping gear, carport addition adds storage wall plus needed cover for recreational vehicle. High windbreak wall of cedar siding adjoins lower garage.

Louvers are solution

Louver doors may be the answer to a surprising number of home problems.

For example: a hallway, foyer, dressing room or bath has sufficient wall space for a closet, but not enough floor clearance for a conventional closet door.

Folding or sliding wood louver doors are the answer. The former, which fold back upon themselves like an accordion, need only minimal floor clearance. The latter, which slide open and closed on ceiling or floor tracks, need no clearance at all.

Both styles are available in stock sizes of ponderosa pine at local lumber dealers. OR: A DECORATIVE connecting door is needed between the kitchen and dining room; bedroom and dressing room; or dressing room and bath.

Wood louver doors in folding, sliding or "cafe" styles are ideal. The unique slat design provides privacy and hides clutter, while admitting light and air.

Their classic slim-line look makes louver doors appropriate for any decor—such as a streamlined kitchen on one side and an elegant dining room on the other.

Folding louver doors of ponderosa pine, hinged together in a series, make effective—and beautiful—room dividers or privacy screens.

THE NATURAL richness of wood, plus the deeply sculptured louver lines, make these dividers an elegant room accent—like fine furniture or handsome wall paneling.

Unlike metal units, wood louver doors can be stained or varnished to highlight the natural grain, or painted to suit.

Louver doors are a good choice for clothes closets, especially in basements and attics. The slats permit a free flow of air which keeps clothing fresh and helps prevent mildew.

This ventilating quality also makes louver doors practical for high-humidity areas such as laundry rooms.

Picture window not perfect

Picture windows are pretty—but not perfect. They don't open.

So, despite the benefits of wide views and the decorative advantages of large glass areas, fixed-sash units don't provide a window "essential"—ventilation.

Often, the dilemma is solved by flanking fixed sash with operating casements; or by combining fixed sash with awning or hopper windows.

Another stylish possibility, suggested by a window manufacturer is gliders—used singly or in series. The company points out that gliding windows have a neat, trim frame that comes close to giving as much glass area as a fixed picture window. In addition, the sash glides easily aside to let in the breeze. The design—popular with contemporary architecture—also is compatible with colonial and traditional homes.

A gliding window that doesn't need painting and has the convenience of insulating glass is available.

Some gliding windows have preservative-treated wood sash that's completely encased in rigid vinyl, and a one-piece rigid-vinyl cladding over the frame.

Welded insulating glass, which reduces heat loss through large panes, especially is important for solutions such as gliders. Separate storm sash would be extremely awkward with these styles.

The operating sash can be lifted out of the frame so both sides of the glass can be safely cleaned inside the house. Factory-applied spring-tension rigid vinyl weatherstripping reduces air infiltration, making the window weathertight.

And, for efficient closure, there is an unobtrusive latch that locks the window top and bottom.

Glass block is solution

First floor or basement windows pose a major problem for today's city dwellers. They often require an inordinate amount of cleaning and maintenance or are frequently broken by children or vandals. Seemingly, the only solution to plight of the urban homeowners is to replace pane-glass windows with a material that lets in lights, yet requires only infrequent cleaning and is virtually impossible to break. That may sound like a tall order, but such a material does exist. It's called glass block.

'Own' room appeals to growing child

Nothing appeals to a growing child like having his (or her) own room. It doesn't have to be large, with Southern exposure and spanking new furniture either. Often a child prefers the coziness of smaller quarters. The main thing is privacy.

Why not turn your remodeling efforts toward that small world, and transform it into the kind of private kingdom your child would most like to have?

Take the decorating theme from a favorite hobby. Suppose you have a son who's crazy about astronomy.

WITH SOME paint and fabric—not to mention time and imagination—you could turn a dingy attic into a super bedroom-observatory. To make it the most fun for everyone, have him help paint ceiling and walls a dark cerulean blue.

Add a few stars overhead with luminous paint, and a planet or two—or the whole solar system.

For wall decorations, look up some of the exciting photograph stories on outer space which have appeared in numerous magazines recently.

You can find these on file at the library, then order back issues for yourself.

IF YOU don't want to frame the photos, simply dry mount them and attach to the walls with push pins or black tape.

Bedsheets printed with stars offer more decorating ideas. Use them for curtains, chair cushions, bedspread. Add a telescope on a stand, aimed through the attic window, and your astronomer will be so happy in his room you'll have to pry him out for meals.

A little girl will feel like a princess when she goes to sleep in her own canopy bed.

To build a canopy, construct a simple box shaped frame over her present bed. For added stability, attach the top of the frame to the ceiling.

Use a staple gun to fasten a canopy of fabric across the top. Then put traverse rods inside the frame, and hang matching curtains all around.

DO CHOOSE a fabric that reflects your daughter's interests. If she's an animal buff, don't surround her with organdy.

Choose a cheery jungle print with bedlinens to match. Add an armload of stuffed animals, and her room becomes a private game preserve where the dear and the teddybears play.

FEMININE TOUCH — Feminine appeal is evident in this bedroom setting. Case pieces are of pecan with white and green finish.

Room is designed to be used as a handy study and playroom aside from being a comfortable bedroom.

Pretty bedroom helps sleeper

One prescription to a good night's sleep is a pretty bedroom that's big on comfort and small on care.

Carpet used on the floor and walls not only does its own thing for glamour, it helps block out cold and noise—a special plus for drafty bedrooms or those next to the children's.

The tartan plaid, with its classic good looks, turns functional when used for the bedspread, paneled screen and unique curtain and valance combination that adapts just as well to a four poster bed.

Pull the curtains and light and noise virtually disappear. The final coup of this cozy cocoon is its wear-well appeal.

Fabrics and carpet are made of Herculan olefin fiber—well known for its durability, color fastness and super easy-care qualities.

Spots and spills quickly whisk away with simply a sponge, water and the suds of a light detergent.

Canopied bed is reproduced

Have you dreamed of a marvelous romantic bedroom fragrant with incense, dazzling with the gleam of brocaded silks and silently full of all the peace and inner calm of the finest oriental art?

Though it seems like an ancient Chinese emperor's vision and subsequent command to the court's interior designer, the making of the royal bed is not difficult.

With some patience, imagination and dexterity, the average do-it-yourselfer can reproduce the canopied bed.

Not even a bedspread is required for these elegant sleeping quarters. They begin with a queen size mattress. It is covered in Ming, a design inspired by a centuries old mandarin robe in the Metropolitan Museum of Art, done in shades of blue and turquoise.

The same fabric available by the yard is used at each corner combined with a deep ruby red lining. Ruby red is repeated on the bed skirt and headboard.

A simple rectangular canopy is trimmed with a crown molding and suspended from the ceiling by four chains.

Create unique table

A unique cocktail table or end table can be easily created with materials on hand — a hammer, some nails and a little imagination.

Many designers use sheets of plywood to create boxes — square, octagon, triangular with shelves or cut-outs for design — to blend with the clean, straight lines of today's new furniture.

These boxes can be painted, varnished or covered with material to add a decorator touch to any room.

Perhaps you have an oddly shaped piece of wood that has been cast off because it has too many wormholes, nicks or other defects. With the addition of legs, you can have an unusual table.

An old door with its delicately carved detailing can also be used as a table — in full length for dining, or cut to create matching end tables, a long cocktail table or bunting tables.

Almost anything you have at home can be converted to decorative use.

Many young people are using cement blocks in brilliant hues to form the bases of accent tables. Several blocks, spaced irregularly, with long boards can be used to form bookshelves or magazine racks.

Prevent cracks in wood

Is there some way to prevent cracks in a wood floor from mirroring through to spoil the appearance of resilient floor coverings?

Most applicators of floor tiles prevent this trouble by providing a smooth surface for the new floor covering. Many use hardboard underlayment, which is designed specifically for this purpose.

There are other advantages, too, besides appearance. The new floor will wear better. Underlayment also gives additional insulation, decreasing heat losses, and there is less noise transmission to the area below.

A warmer, tighter floor, particularly over crawl space in basementless houses, is assured.

A leading hardboard manufacturer, furnishes its underlayment branded with nailing or stapling points and printed instructions. These make it simple for the amateur to do a professional job of installation.

Don't call repairman!

The next time a trusty gas appliance balks, stop!

Don't rush to call a repairman; you'll save time and money if you can solve the problem yourself. Make a routine check of automatic controls.

Unless you are "programming" an oven meal, be sure the controls are set for manual operation. Select the proper temperature and time for the food you are cooking. Ovens won't bake when they are set on "Keep Warm."

ALL-AMERICAN ROSES — Seldom have three new roses received more favored comments than the trio of tea roses which swept the All-American Rose Selections awards this year. The three winners are entirely different in color and each has its own individual outstanding characteristics. The winners include (above) Medallion, huge apricot-buff roses on long stems thickly scattered over a shapely plant which won 1973 honors for this hybrid team.

THE ELECTRON — This delightfully fragrant, clear bright pink flower with enormous quantities of bloom won a 1973 award for this new Irish hybrid tea rose.

THE GYPSY — This brilliant flaming scarlet 1973 award winner is outstanding in every respect and worthy of a place in a Western Wayne County garden.

Designer suggests color

Bathrooms lend to style

Families building a new home should not forget that bathrooms are perhaps the most permanent — and surely the most often neglected — of all the rooms they're planning, advises a design engineer.

"The kitchen also is a difficult room to change once installed," he said. "But this area is a focal point for new home planners. Bathrooms normally get little of the planning attention lavished on the kitchen."

"It's only after the family has moved in and becomes settled that they realize their stark white, bland bathrooms are totally out of step with the other decors they've so carefully planned. But by that time it's often too late."

MOST PEOPLE would be surprised at the minimal extra cost of color bathtubs, lavatories and toilets, the designer explained, and once they're installed the decorating possibilities are endless.

"Modest upgrading of the bathroom fixtures themselves is another route to increased style and convenience," he said. "Such higher grade fixtures offer improved design and function at a surprisingly low cost."

Market research shows that used housing buyers are paying more attention to bathrooms than ever before, and Korol points out this trend makes an extra investment in the bathroom sound economics as well as a matter of good looks and convenience.

Family rooms, bedrooms and other "dry rooms" are relatively easy to improve at any time, he continued. A new coat of paint or an afternoon of wallpapering or paneling is all it takes.

"However, a bathroom facelift can involve considerable time and effort from floor to ceiling," Korol said.

"Today's new products make such work much easier, assuredly," he added, "but why should the homeowner wait until later when the time to insure bathroom style and convenience is during a home's planning stage?"

He suggests that home planners consult their builder about color bath fixtures — giving thought to their bathroom color schemes just as they do to the kitchen's.

Walls need dimension

Walls need no longer be the "wall flowers" of the home. Scenic wallpaper panels, contrasting paints, wood strips for architectural accent, a large painting or a group of paintings can all add dimension and interest to an otherwise plain room and increase attention to the walls.

An interesting decorative idea is to combine wood beams hung vertically with the same fabric as the sofa placed between the beams — serving as a backdrop for the sofa.

Or, for accent, use a contrasting fabric to highlight the furnishing.

Another idea is to paint one wall in a pale room in a bold color as a highlight. Add an arrangement of pictures and art "treasures" to create a focal point.

A small room can be made larger and "opened up" with the use of a scenic mural. Textured or wood-like wall coverings gives a rustic setting to a den or game room. Foil or flocked paper add a touch of elegance to a foyer or hallway.

New Eagle Scouts named

Three members of Boy Scout Troop 754, sponsored by the Quirk Road Elementary School, Belleville, have earned the highest scouting rank—Eagle Scout.

Presentation of this coveted honor will be held in Court of Honor ceremonies May 30 at the school, 46270 Ayres St., Belleville. The ceremonies will begin at 7 p.m.

The troop's new Eagle Scouts are Robbie Mitchell, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Mitchell, 10624 Borgman St., Belleville; Scott Beck, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim E. Beck, 11194 Borgman St., Belleville; and Larry Young, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Young, 10424 Quirk Rd., Belleville.

SCOUT LEADERS say that it's very unusual for one troop to have three Eagle Scouts being presented the high honor at the same time.

Robert Mitchell, better known as Robbie, is very active in scouting. He is a seventh grader at North Junior High School and has maintained a place on the school honor roll.

He participates in the school band and AAU. He also was a member of the seventh and eighth grade swim teams and was chosen athlete of the month for his swimming.

Cycle safety tips

More than one-third of Michigan's nine million residents own bicycles and forecasts indicate that within three years bicycles will outnumber the current six million registered motor vehicles, according to Secretary of State Richard H. Austin.

In releasing the findings and recommendations of his Cycle Safety Conference at the recent Michigan Safety Conference, Secretary Austin pointed out the bicycle growth and accident problem but stressed the motorcycle problem - more than 7,594 injuries and 178 fatalities last year in Michigan involving motorcyclists.

While there are 12 times as many bicycles as motorcycles the latter have more than three times as many fatal accidents and more than double the number of injury accidents - 2,849 injuries and 51 fatalities involving bicyclists.

THERE ARE MORE

motorcycles registered in Michigan - nearly 250,000 in 1972 - than in any state but California, and the number is expected to reach 400,000 in 1975.

Here are some of the major recommendations of the Cycle Safety Conference concerning both motorcycles and bicycles:

Step-up efforts to improve the visibility of bicycles and their riders.

Create a state bicycle advisory board by the State Highway Commission, which administers state revenues to be spent for development of paths for bicycles and other non-motorized transportation. Local bicycle coordination councils also were recommended.

Create a Bicycle Law Study Committee which would draft legislation to modernize Cycle safety laws.

Develop training programs for inexperienced drivers, who are involved in 70 per cent of all motorcycle accidents.

Develop a state-wide public information program to educate the general driving public as well as motorcycle operators on their responsibilities in relation to each other in traffic.

Dog tag deadline June 30

Dog owners residing in the City of Belleville were issued a reminder Monday that the deadline for getting 1973 dog licenses is June 30.

Certification of vaccination must be shown when applying for a dog license. Mrs. Jean Braumdaheer, deputy clerk, said.

City police are to make a city survey after the June 30 deadline and dog owners who have failed to procure their 1973 dog licenses will be given a violation ticket carrying a $10 penalty upon conviction, she added.

In addition to a possible fine of $10, dog license fees of $3 for males, $5 for female and $3 for neutered dogs will be increased by a $1 penalty.

Employees feted

The 11th annual recognition dinner for long-time employees at Eastern Michigan University recently held in the Guild Hall of McKenney Union honored 19 persons with a total of 288 years of service.

Among the honored employees was Corine M. Squelch, 12651 Lake Point Pass, Belleville. She has completed 10 years of service with the university.

Builders predict shortage

The National Association of Home Builders and its affiliates across the country believe that, despite prospects of a two-million-unit year in 1973, a serious shortage of homes is in the making.

One of the largest of NAHB affiliates is the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan and its subsidiary, the Apartment Association of Michigan.

Spokesmen for the group, which numbers nearly 1,000 members, is Ivan Frankel, home and apartment builder and BASM president.

"The nation will see a 50 per cent increase in housing start this year over the 1960's," said Frankel.

"Operating against builders' needs—especially for low and middle income families—are rising costs of land, labor, materials and credit. These are depriving many of the opportunity to acquire decent homes."

Frankel urged even higher production rates and rehabilitation of a half million existing units to help meet the impending shortage of homes.

Frankel said the BASM had joined the parent organization in Washington in opposing the Administration's cutbacks in subsidized housing programs. He added:

"We believe that HUD's budget requests offer an ideal opportunity for the Congress, in appropriating funds for the department, to see that the funds should not be withheld and that the programs should move ahead. Impounded funds should be used as Congress expected when the appropriations were approved."

Scholars named

Eight area students were listed on the dean's honor roll at Michigan State University for the last term.

Annual session tonight

The Huron River Watershed Council will hold its annual meeting at 7:30 tonight at the Campus Inn Ann Arbor.

The meeting will begin with a business session to review the year's activities and discuss programs planned for the coming year. New officers will be elected.

The meeting is open to the public.

The nominating committee for this year's meeting includes chairman John Dillon, Ann Arbor; D. Bruce Jones, Ypsilanti; Lew Coy, Oakland County; David Bacon, Lima Township and John Hines, Rockwood.

Date change

The Van Buren Board of Education's regular meeting scheduled for June 11 has been deferred until June 18, School Supt. Dale E. Kaulitz, said.

The school board meeting date was changed due to the annual school election June 11.

Girl scouts tour museum

Brownie Troop 711 of the Girl Scouts, sponsored by Elwell Elementary School, Belleville, recently visited the Ann Arbor Museum. Four adults accompanied the 12 girls who made the trip.

The troop's main interest is the Michigan Indians.

Upon their return the members of the troop made canoes and decorated them with Indian signs.

Troop leaders are Mrs. John Dennis and Mrs. Vernon DePriest. The troop service director is Mrs. Velma Harcas.

New 'icebox' reduces cost of keeping cold

By LOU MLECZKO
News Consumer Writer

Consumers who have been unhappy with rising utility rates have received some good news from Philco-Ford, Inc.

Refrigerator-freezers built by Philco are now featuring a new one-piece inner wall, which company officials say will reduce consumption of electricity from 33 to 54 percent compared to other units with the same storage capacity.

Robert W. Klein, district distributor manager for Philco, said the new units use less electricity because they have smaller compressors and operate less frequently.

Based on a three-cent per kilowatt hour rate, Klein said the new units could save consumers about $35 a year on their electric bills.

He said the savings during the life of the unit could range from $300 to $600.

Reprinted from The Detroit News

Philco said the new units hold cold air 50 percent longer than all other models.

Carr gets Glenn football coaching job

By DALE GOWING

A Belleville High School assistant football coach has been named head coach at Westland John Glenn High School.

Lloyd H. Carr Jr., 28, a former Missouri quarterback who guided the Tigers to the 1966 Sugar Bowl title and who has been an assistant coach at Belleville since 1970, will replace Robert Lusk in the number one grid post at Glenn. Lusk resigned the football duties after his Rockets skidded to a 1-7 mark last season.

Carr, who will teach English at Glenn along with his football duties, was an All-State quarterback at River-view in 1962 before being lured to Missouri by Coach Dan Devine, now head coach of the Green Bay Packers.

CARR'S SELECTION climaxed a three-month search by the Westland Board of Education, and school administrators are enthusiastic over the choice. "We're extremely pleased that we could get Lloyd," said Glenn principal Frank Higgins. "He comes to us highly recommended by his fellow teachers and others, and we think he can give us a new look on offense.

"He has a fine quarterbacking background which is perfect for us, because we were really looking for someone with a strong offensive background. We've always been happy with our defense here," Higgins said, "and Lloyd really pleased us with his ideas for revamping our offense. I think he'll give us a good chance at winning some games." Kaminskis: 25 years of baseball

By DALE GOWING

The designated hitter innovation is hoped to be the spark that the American League has been looking for to perk up attendance and interest in the league, and early indications show it's working admirably.

And on the high school baseball level, particularly in Michigan, the State Tournament appears to be pumping the needed adrenalin into the veins of a sport some think was destined for obscurity.

At least that's the view of Vit Kaminskas, who this season is marking his 25th anniversary as Belleville High School's baseball coach.

"I THINK THE tournament's great," says the 53-year-old Tiger field boss. "It helps increase fan and player interest in the game, which has been lagging."

"It gives players something to identify with, something to aim at. Before, teams just had their league titles to play for."

But the tournament isn't without its hangups. First, and most important, is the fact that many seniors play through the districts or regionals and quit after graduation day, electing not to return to the diamonds for the remainder of the tournament. That, of course, hurts teams which have relied on the depth provided by the seniors.

"Schools are too liberal now," says Kaminskas. "Kids are in such a hurry to get out and get a job nowadays that we're losing a lot of them after graduation day." Seniors are eligible to complete the tournament schedule despite already graduating.

"SPRING IS A ROUGH time of year, because they all are looking forward to the end of school," Kaminskas says. "We're losing our depth in the marginal players — the ones who either want to play or quit. It's getting so a coach almost has to guarantee he kid will play if he wants him to stay around."

Kaminskas, married with three children, doesn't drop hints on how many more years he'd like to coach. "I guess while I feel good and everything still works — I'll stick around," he laughs. Has prep baseball lost any of its intrigue in 25 years?

"Not a bit, but when it does then I'll quit," he says seriously.

IF ANYTHING, the game has gotten more interesting each year for Kaminskas. The calibre of coaching has increased the level and degree of competition fiercely, and new summer leagues are turning the athletes into high-class ball players.

"The importance of coaches has increased drastically in 25 years, to the point where there is much keener competition among the teams and the players," explains Kaminskas. "And the players have more opportunity to play now — especially in the summer — with all of the Little League and Legion teams."

"The equipment we use today is a lot better, but the players are still the same type of boys. They're bigger, but that's really the only difference," he says.

KAMINSKIS HAS developed a keen eye for talent in the past quarter-century, and he can spot a potential star a mile off.

"Actually, the kids show it with their attitude—amount of interest, desire, hustle and natural talent of course. Some boys who have a lot of talent don't use it and never become as good as they could be."

"But on the other hand, there are boys who lack excess natural talent but learn fast and develop what they have very successfully," he said.

After coaching so long on the prep level, has he ever gotten that urge to step up to college coaching?

"MAYBE YEARS ago," he admits, allowing himself a moment to reflect, "but the work is too demanding because the competition, recruiting and pressure to win are so fierce."

And then he smiled. "To tell you the truth, I just enjoy high school kids too much to want to leave."

Coach Gates resigns

Belleville High is in the market for a new head basketball coach. In a surprise move yesterday, the Van Buren board of education accepted the resignation of Al Gates, the Tiger mentor for the past three years.

Gates, whose team compiled a 6-15 over-all record last year, handed in his resignation and in it, in part, stated: "Every coach desires to win. This is inbred in most athletes. However, the idea of winning at any cost, a true coach refuses to accept."

"Winning can not replace the close relationship between a coach and his players. Winning cannot surpass the theory of life which is sometimes winning and sometimes losing."

"A coach uses the losing to create harder work situations to make the player a stronger individual. Winning can never outweigh a coach's personal worth and the contributions he had made to the school and to his players."

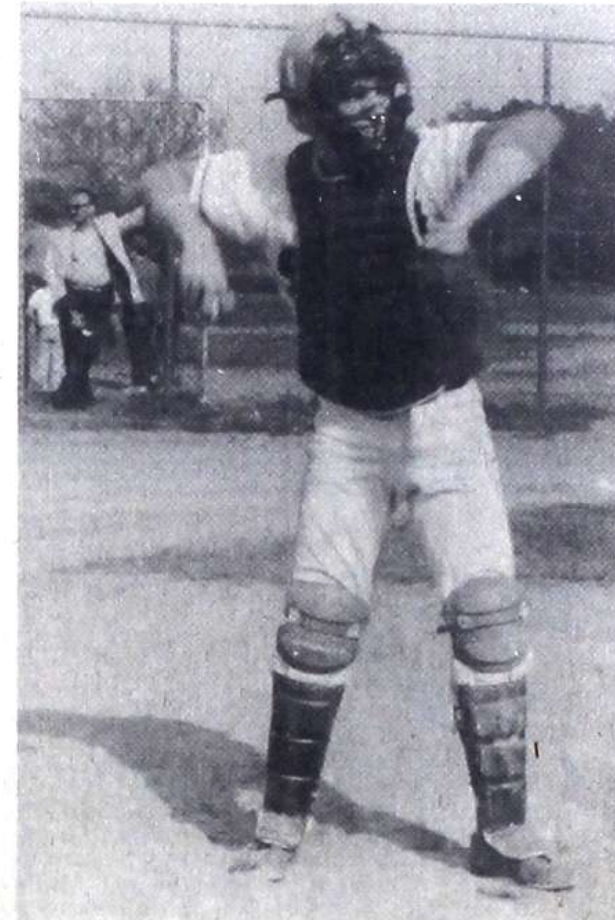

"Acting upon your assumption that winning is the most important measure of a coach's worth, I hereby tender by letter of resignation," Gates wrote.

A fiery strategist who inherited a losing Belleville team three years ago, Gates unsuccessfully tried to make a contender out of the Tigers in the tough Suburban 8 Conference.

Belleville High Athletic Director Harry Hidenfelter said that the school would be interviewing possible candidates as soon as possible.

M. GATES

RECORD BARRIER — Belleville's senior catcher Mike Dansard is on the verge of setting a Tiger batting record. The rugged 17-year-old backstop went three for three in Friday's 3-2 victory over Dearborn to increase his average to .490. The school's record is .440.

Rally falls short, Romulus loses, 4-3

A seventh inning rally fell short as Romulus lost a 4-3 ball game to River Rouge last week.

Roy Hollis ignited the Eagles in the seventh with a single, moved to second when Vergil Smith walked then the two pulled off a double steal. Bob Eves singled in two runs but was stranded on the base paths.

Steve Pollard, who gave up four runs and one hit was the losing pitcher.

Rouge scored three times in the second inning then added one more in the third before Romulus came back to get its first run in the top of the sixth on a walk to Eves who stole second and scored when Manuel Delarosa belted a single.

The loss left Coach Bill Cuhnan's Eagles with a 6-9 over-all record.

Titans' Vitale to speak at Central cage camp

Dick Vitale, newly-appointed University of Detroit head basketball coach, will be among the featured speakers at the Detroit Catholic Central Basketball Camp.

The camp will be staged three hours per day, five days a week for two weeks between July 9 and July 20. Youngsters 10 to 16 years old are invited to attend.

The camp director is DCC coach Bernie Holowicki who can be reached at 261-3346.

HOW SWEET IT IS — There's something about Dearborn that brings home runs out of Belleville's Robin Hook who smacked his second roundtripper off the Pioneers Friday in helping the Tigers to a 3-2 victory. Hook's first HR also was against the Dearborn ball club in their initial encounter.

Tigers to get district test from Glenn '9

By DALE GOWING

Vit Kaminskas' only comforting thought at the moment is that maybe his Belleville High pitchers are 'saving up' for the district games.

The Tiger coach is trying to make himself believe that his mound corps will jell yet, even though only one Suburban Eight game remains before Saturday, when district play begins as the Tigers host Westland John Glenn.

"We've been getting inconsistent pitching," Kaminskas said in a nutshell. And he's right.

The Tiger hurlers have risen to near-greatness on occasion, highlighted by ace Al Cicotte's May 5 'no-hitter' against Wyandotte Mt. Carmel — a game which was stopped in the fifth inning when Belleville gained a seven-run lead.

BUT THEY'VE also fallen hard.

Cicotte again knows what it feels like, posing as the victim of Livonia Bentley last Tuesday. Or more appropriately, Bentley was the victim of Cicotte, as the hard-throwing Tiger hit three batters en route to a 4-3 Suburban Eight loss.

Cicotte served up only five hits to Bentley, but as Kaminskas said, "three hit batters are equivalent to three hits." Cicotte whiffed eight and walked five while suffering his second loss against three wins.

Robin Hook led Belleville's talented hitting regimen with a single and double and scored once, and Mike Dansard notched two RBI's — one in the first and seventh innings. THE TIGERS OPENED the scoring in the first when Dansard singled in Hook, who had doubled. Bentley countered with two runs in the fourth and two in the sixth, before Belleville added another when Dave Dapsi drove Joe Stillwagon in from third on a sacrifice fly. Stillwagon had singled, moved to second on a ground out, then advanced to third on Gary Atkins' base hit.

Trailing 4-2 in the seventh, Belleville could manage only one more run when Hook singled, took third on Tim Vance's hit and scored on a Dansard ground out.

Kaminskas' crew tallied seven hits and committed two errors. Bentley combined its five hits with one miscue, as Don Murphy got the win.

The Belleville district opener against Glenn Saturday begins at 10 a.m.

DARYL GOODEN

Gooden 6th in state

Daryl Gooden became the first shot-putter in Romulus High history to place in Class A competition. The 17-year-old senior hurled the shot 54 feet, 2 inches to place sixth at the Class A state finals staged in East Lansing on the facilities of Michigan State University. The 6-foot-1, 212-pound athlete was the only medalist from the area.

Monroe ousts Huron from state tourney

By DALE GOWING

Huron High's on-again, off-again hitting woes considerably were off-again last Thursday, but it didn't really matter to Coach Ron Smith and the Chiefs.

The New Boston team ignited its bats in every way it knew how, but it still wasn't enough to turn away Monroe Catholic Central in nine innings, 10-9, in the all-important pre-district round of the state tournament.

The extra-inning loss eliminated Huron from the state tourney.

HURON JAMIE Hinojosa did everything he could to fend off Catholic Central, restricting the enemy to two hits until the seventh frame as Huron maintained a 6-3 lead.

But an ever-so-costly out-field error by Huron set the stage for a three-run single and the game went into extra innings.

In the eighth, Huron scored three times in a determined effort to pull it out, giving the Chiefs a 9-6 edge. But Hinojosa and Huron couldn't calm Central's riled-up bats in the eighth, allowing CC to tie it again with three runs.

Then, in the ninth, the Monroe '9 won it on a single, a hit batsman and an RBI double — all with two out.

HURON HAD jumped to a 4-0 lead in the fifth, and added one in the sixth and one in the seventh, before Catholic Central rallied in the seventh.

Dana Kemp rapped three hits for Huron, and Terry Vernier and Tim Hinojosa each had two.

"We were hitting the ball well again for a change," said Smith, "but we made more mistakes. The kids were really upset about the whole thing." One day before, Huron had dropped Tecumseh, 5-0, on the four-hit pitching of Ken DeLano. DeLano has given up a mere two runs in 21 innings this year, and has blanked Tecumseh twice.

Two days earlier the Chiefs surrendered to Carlton Airport, 3-1, partially because several Huron starters were benched for disciplinary reasons, Smith said.

Gary Whitehouse only relented five hits in the losing effort.

Blissfield blitzes Huron

Huron High baseball coach Ron Smith said it best: "It's either feast or famine with the bat for us."

That more or less sums up New Boston Huron's baseball fortunes — or misfortunes — this season. The Chiefs have been either explosive at the plate or falling asleep, and Saturday was another lazy day.

With three starters attending the senior class trip to Cedar Point, the weakened Chiefs offered little resistance to Blissfield in the Monroe Tournament, bowing 6-0 on two hits.

TWO CHIEF starters, Ken DeLano and Gary Whitehouse, suffered the nine-hit barrage by Blissfield in the non-league game, while Tim Hinojosa and sophomore Ken Kwasnik, the latter brought up from the reserves Saturday by Smith to fill the vacancies, accounted for Huron's only two hits.

Starter and loser DeLano was shelled for the first five runs before Whitehouse gave up one more in relief in the sixth. Blissfield scored twice in the first, once in the second, fourth, fifth and sixth innings, as Huron never had a chance.

Blissfield's Vidal Billigas checked Huron on two hits — Hinojosa's and Kwasnik's — in the second and seventh innings, respectively, while the Chief hurlers sacrificed five singles, a double and triple and two homers.

ANN ARBOR — More than 200 friends of Michigan's retiring hockey coach, Al Renfrew, attended his testimonial dinner and presented him and his wife, Marge with a two-week trip to Hawaii. Renfrew coached 'M' hockey for the last 16 seasons.

Wayne wins 2 from Romulus

The weekend was anything but pleasant for Coach Bill Cuhran and his Romulus High ball club, as they tuned up in an ill-manner for Saturday's state tournament district play with a double loss to Wayne Memorial, 6-2 and 3-2.

The Eagles will try to redeem themselves tonight against Highland Park before taking on the winner of the Adrian-Ypsilanti contest in Saturday's district opener.

Romulus' loss to Wayne in the opener of the doubleheader left the Eagles in a quandry, puzzled as to why they couldn't hit. The Eagles got only three hits off starter Paul Warmul and only one of their runs were due to hits.

ROMULUS JUMPED to a quick lead in the first when Vergil Smith scored from third on a passed ball. He had walked, moved to second on a walk to Steve Pollard and stole third.

Wayne tied it with a run in the third, then Pollard doubled and scored on Manuel Delarosa's single for the Eagles' final run. Wayne rallied for four in the fifth and added another in the sixth.

In the nightcap, Romulus fended off the Zebras for eight innings before Wayne won it on a suicide squeeze. Sophomore Rick Britz' picturesque 2-0 two-hitter entering the seventh was marred with two more hits, two wild pitches and a pair of successful bunts as Wayne tied the score and sent the game into extra innings.

Romulus had scored once in the third on doubles by Larry Hale and Smith and again in the top of the seventh when Ray Hollis doubled and scored on Roy Pomerwinski's base hit.

The twin-killing lowered Romulus' season standing to 6-12.

All-Area track meet is slated for Friday

A couple of state champs, a runnerup and a score of local athletes who recently placed in the Class A and B state track and field meets will be in the field competing for All-Area status on Friday.

The state champs Robichaud's Andre Jacobs and Inkster's Ed Poindexter, who recently won Class B titles in the 220-yard dash and low hurdles, respectively - will be pitted against area athletes who competed in Class A competition.

Can Jacobs or Poindexter defeat their 'A' counterparts? This question and many more will be answered on Friday at Westland John Glenn Stadium when the Fifth Annual All-Area Track & Field Meet is staged.

The meet, sponsored by The Daily Eagle and The Associated Newspapers, is open to all high school athletes who attend one of the schools served by the newspapers. The schools include: Inkster, Wayne Memorial, Westland John Glenn, Robichaud, Cherry Hill, Garden City West and Garden City East, Livonia Franklin and Livonia Churchill, Belleville, Romulus and New Boston Huron.

THE PURPOSE of the meet is to determine the best track and field men in the area for 1973 and designate them as such. No team score is kept. Athletes who finish among the top five will be awarded medals with the first place finisher in each of the 12 individual events named All-Area.

Members of the relay teams that finish in the top three also will receive medals but the first place team will earn the All-Area.

Field events will begin at 4 p.m. with the running preliminaries at 5 p.m. An exhibition two-mile run is set for 6 p.m. with the finals scheduled for 6:30 p.m.

The entry deadline is Thursday, May 25 at 9 p.m. and coaches should contact Jerry Szukaitis (728-4630) Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday after 6:30 p.m. to register athletes.

Entries also may be mailed to Coach Szukaitis: 4443 Biddle, Wayne, Michigan 48184.

Starting blocks will be provided by the host school but contestants must wear short spikes, except for shot putters who should have flats.

The starting height for the pole vault will be set at 10 feet, 6 inches and for the high jump at 5 feet, 6 inches. In the long jump, only those jumps over 19 feet will be measured and tossed over 48 feet will be counted in the shot put.

The suggested standards for the running events are:

880-Relay	1:35.0
880-Dash	2:04.0
High Hurdles	16.5
100-Mile	4:45.0
100-Dash	10.5
440-Dash	53.0
Low Hurdles	21.5
2-Mile	10:30.0
220-Dash	24.0
1-Mile Relay	3:35.0
440-Relay	46.5

Carr

In 1970 he went to Belleville where he has since taught English and served as offensive coach under Keith Emerson.

According to Higgins, the Packers' Devine recommended Carr for the post at Glenn.

"They got a good man," exclaimed Belleville Athletic Director Harry Hidenfelter. "I hate to lose Lloyd. He's an excellent disciplinarian and communicates good with the kids. He'll demand a lot from them but I know they'll like him."

"I REGARD MY new job as a challenge," said Carr. "Glenn had a rough time last season and I'm looking forward to the challenge of rebuilding the squad into a winner."

"Offense is my forte, which is what Glenn lacks, I understand. At this point I don't exactly know the entire situation there in regard to assistant coaches and returning players, but I will be meeting with Mr. Higgins and the kids next week," he said.

Carr will have his hands full when he assumes his new duties in June, attempting to mold the Rockets into a winner.

RON BOSTICK

Bostick to attend U of D

Ron Bostick, Romulus' lanky 6-foot-9 senior center, has signed a national letter of intent to enroll at the University of Detroit, according to Coach Dick Vitale.

The aggressive Eagle pivotman who led Coach Dave Court's cage team to its third consecutive district championship and to the regional finals earned All-American honorable mention recognition recently.

Bostick scored at a 20 point clip and also was the team's leading rebounder.

Huron girls' track team loses finale

16 teams compete in Romulus softball

Expansion to 16 teams and double header action are the major changes as action is scheduled to get under way in the Romulus Slow Pitch Softball League this week. The teams were divided into two loops by a drawing with League "A" playing its Tuesday games at 6 p.m. and its Thursday games at 7:30 p.m. League "B" will play on the same fields at 7:30 on Tuesdays and 6 on Thursdays.

Teams to beat in League "A" are Huron Valley Steel, Beck-Howell Carpets, Carpentry by Woodcraft and Romulus Hardware and Auto Supply. The race in League "B" is the hardest to figure with four of the five teams new to Romulus Softball. However, Morgan Manor and Polka Dot Party Store are pre-season favorites.

Cage star chooses U-M

ANN ARBOR — University of Michigan basketball coach John Orr announced today that Johnny Davis, Detroit Murray-Wright's star guard, has signed a Big Ten letter of intent for a grant-in-aid scholarship at Michigan.

Davis, who won both All-City and All-State honors, averaged 31 points per game in his senior year. As a junior he hit for 27 and his sophomore average was 17.

He is also an exceptional ballhandler and at 6-1, 170, has excellent quickness and speed.

Davis joins Walled Lake's Randy McLean and Southfield's Bob Malaby from the Michigan All-State team and Ohio All-Stater Steve Grote as prospective Wolverine freshmen.

"We're really pleased about Johnny's decision," said Orr. "He is just a tremendous player and a fine student-athlete. He does everything that can be asked of a guard, and I'm certain he will be a great asset to our program."

Birch Hill—lines are being drawn

By TOM MOORADIAN

ONE THING for sure: Lloyd Carr, the assistant Belleville High football coach who was named to head Westland John Glenn's football program, must be about the most modest coach around.

We dug in our files for a "mug shot" of the new head coach and couldn't find one. And since our head photographer Lotar Konietzko is ailing we asked Carr, via phone last night if he could drop a picture of himself off at the office.

Carr paused and replied, "Call you back in a few minutes." And sure enough a few minutes passed and Carr was back on the telephone. "Gee, I'm sorry, Tom," our newest head coach said, "but my wife and I dug through everything and we couldn't find a picture of me."

That's life.

SINCE WE'RE on the subject of the new head coach, Carr's ex-mentor, Keith Emerson, had some kind words to say about his departing assistant.

"Lloyd is an excellent and devoted coach," Emerson said, "and I know he will do an excellent job at Glenn. I hate to see him leave Belleville."

Emerson also said that one of his 1972 football standouts, John Alford, has received a scholarship to the University of Wyoming.

Alford, a 6-foot-2, 220-pound All-Area, All-Suburban 8 Conference tackle recently signed the letter of intent and will probably report to the university during the summer to get in shape.

GUESS WE HAVE been kind of delinquent in gathering information about the other prep stars who have received scholarships and I hope coaches would inform us about their top-notch athletes' intentions.

Been so busy in these parts that I haven't had time to open the mail pouch lately. But here's a note from a lassie who doesn't think Bonnie is so bonnie.

Dear Mr. Mooradian,

As you probably know, the woodlands that served the Birch Hill Golf Club are doomed if residents in the area don't act now.

The Bonnie Investment Company has plans to build a 112-acre subdivision and shopping center on the land and I sincerely feel if people don't act to stop them then we will lose a stretch of the most beautiful land in the city.

The loss of one tree can touch me deeply.

And land without trees can touch all of us. For without trees land becomes arid, unproductive and inevitably inhabitable.

As in the inner city.

BONNIE INVESTMENT COMPANY of Southfield apparently feels the area in the Cherry Hill and Merriman area is ripe for such a complex that they have in mind.

And I don't doubt that they have done extensive studies to back up their findings.

Westland doesn't have the one million dollars price tag the present owners have attached to the land but what about a "community project"?

Since the course and land is easily accessible to residents of Garden City, Wayne, Livonia and Inkster why don't all these cities get together and purchase the land for a recreational site or a "municipal golf course?"

There are scores of shopping centers that residents can get to, and the acres of housing that is being planned? With so many vacant lots, why not build on them?

I must agree with our mayor, "that once Birch Hill's open space is gone, it will be lost forever."

One thing for sure - something has to be done quickly for if left in its present condition the vandals will burn down everything in site.

We need your help. And everyone else - Bonnie should build in Southfield or anywhere else but leave Birch Hill alone.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Mary Beck

Michigan funded libraries

Michigan libraries were given a healthy $2.5 million financial boost in the Michigan Senate through the efforts of Sen. William Faust, D-Westland.

The Faust amendment to the 1973-74 Department of Education appropriations bill provides the funding of $4,475,000 for state aid to local public libraries and establishes criteria for the distribution of funds. The original appropriation had been at $1,925,000.

Presently, libraries receive five cents per capita if they qualify for state aid. Under the Faust amendment, a public library will receive during any fiscal year a grand of 25 cents per capita from state aid, if in the year prior to the year of distribution the library received local support amounting to three-tenths of a mill and met minimum standards.

Faust said that the money provided in his amendment would enable Michigan libraries to catch up in making many needed improvements.

Ethnic summer festivals set

Ever had the yen to travel and get to know peoples of other lands, their customs, foods and dress?

The really interested person can do just that without even applying for a passport or packing a bag — not to mention getting those dreaded "shots."

The chance comes with the weekend ethnic festivals in downtown Detroit, starting Friday with the Greeks and ending Sept. 23 with the Latin Americans.

THE ETHNIC FESTIVAL, which attracted over three million people last year, was chosen as Michigan's "Community Achievement of the Year."

The colorful affair offers educational features as well as entertainment for the entire family. One can watch ethnic dances, hear songs of other lands, see the colorful and unique native dress of many countries, see crafts demonstrated as Old World articles are created — and last, but far from least — sample the foods of other lands with an eye to adding them to the family menu.

And adding to the festive atmosphere is the riverfront setting for the majority of events.

The schedule of festivals is as follows:

May 25-28: the Greek Festival.
June 1-3: the Irish Festival.
June 8-10: the Slovak Festival.
June 15-17: the German Festival.
June 22-24: the Italian Festival.

June 29-30 and July 1: the American Festival.
July 6-8: the Far Eastern Festival.
July 13-15: the Captive Nations Festival.

July 20-22: the Afro-American Festival.
July 27-29: the India Festival.
July 27-29: the Bavarian Festival at Harmonie Park.

August 3-5: the Ukrainian Festival.
August 10-12: the Polish Festival.

August 17-19: the Scandinavian Festival.
August 24-26: the Armenian Festival.

August 31 and Sept. 1-3: the International Festival.
Sept. 7-9: the Mexican Festival.

Sept. 14-16: the Arab Festival.
Sept. 21-23: the Latin American Festival.

The association and Michigan Tourist Council have been compiling reports from oil companies and organizations connected with the gasoline industry. Results seem to indicate adequate supplies will be available for motorists visiting the eight county area of Southeast Michigan this summer.

Charles Shipley, executive director of the Retail Gasoline Dealers of Michigan, reported:

"THE AVAILABILITY of gasoline supply for the tourist should be plentiful...we see no reason why tourists should be apprehensive." This statement is backed up by several oil company spokesmen.

As for prices, exorbitant rises have been ruled out, although there have been indications of moderate increases. Again Charles Shipley: "The recently enacted gasoline tax has added approximately $2 to the cost of any tourist traveling a thousand miles in Michigan. Recent price increases will just about equal this amount."

Some of the best advice for motorists was given by Sam VanSickle, vice president of Standard Division of American Oil Co., Detroit.

"HE (the motorist) can lower his driving speeds on highways (gasoline consumption rises sharply after 50 m.p.h.) and he should also make sure his tires are properly inflated. With the help of the motorist in utilizing these conservation methods, I foresee that we'll make it through the summer with a minimum of problems."

The Retail Gasoline Dealers had some further advice through Charles Shipley: "It would, of course, be common sense that motorists keep their tanks from going too low before seeking a fill-up, but even this has been good advice when there was not talk of any shortage."

The second annual Founder's Day Dinner-Dance honoring charter members of the People's Action Committee (PAC) will be held Saturday, June 9 at the Hilton Inn, Romulus.

Music for dancing will be furnished by the Tommie Balone Trio. Proceeds from the event will be used to continue the PAC Social Service program which provides emergency assistance to the poor and disadvantaged as well as the provision of youth recreational and cultural enrichment experiences.

Spring concert slated tonight

Care for retarded okayed by county

A new plan for improved care of retarded and emotionally troubled children has been approved by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

The commissioners, meeting May 17, voted 21-2 to approve "in principle" the report of a joint county-state task force and adopted three resolutions aimed at implementing the task force recommendations.

As a result, a central agency will be established to refer such children to appropriate facilities for treatment and training.

CHILDREN requiring residential care will be placed in small-group residential facilities within the community.

The Wayne County Child Development Center, a large residential institution located near Northville, will be closed after all children have been properly placed in other facilities.

No date was set for closing of the Center, which has approximately 240 students at present.

"THE CLOSE of the Child Development Center shall not take place until each child has an appropriate and proper community placement," the board declared in one resolution.

Three teams consisting of representatives of the Plymouth State Home, the Child Development Center, the Detroit-Wayne County Community Mental Health Services Board, and four State departments will be established to place the children.

The resolution notes that the Child Development Center was a leader in the field of mental health for children when it opened in 1925, but states that "an institutional environment is contrary to modern treatment" by present standards.

THE WAYNE COUNTY program will be similar to that of the Golden Gate Regional Center in San Francisco, a setup which has been praised by experts nationally.

A committee representing the task force and the Board of Commissioners will be established "to expedite the implementation of services and project the need for additional resources within Wayne County," the resolution states.

Admissions to the Child Development Center will continue until the central referral agency has been created and appropriate and proper placements have been developed, it adds.

THE NEW structure will provide central coordination of referrals and services.

Veteran seminar

Veterans from throughout the area are invited to take part in a veterans seminar, Aug. 26, at the Wayne-Ford Civic League.

Veterans will learn of the rights and benefits awaiting them through the Veterans Administration and other organizations offering help to veteran groups.

The seminar is sponsored by the Disabled American Veterans.

Mr. Joseph Sesi, President
Sesi Lincoln-Mercury, Inc.
950 E. Michigan Avenue
Ypsilanti, Michigan 48197

Dear Mr. Sesi:

We have just received the national rankings on each dealer's sales of new Lincolns, Mercurys, and Capris for the calendar year 1972. It gives me great pleasure to inform you that Sesi Lincoln-Mercury sold 1742 new cars, and ranked among the top 20 of our dealers, nationwide. This is an outstanding sales job, and becomes of even greater significance when coupled with the fact that you also achieved 16.3% penetration of the total industry. As you so well know, this means that your dealership sold, roughly, three times as many Lincolns and Mercurys as the average dealer in a community the size of Ypsilanti.

This is a splendid showing, and both you, and your organization are to be complimented on the outstanding results you have achieved.

Professional automobile men immediately recognize the implications of the honor you have earned. It means you have been successful—not only in selling a volume of new cars, but have been successful, too, in the areas of used car sales, service rendered to your customers, and maintaining good customer relations. Well done!

Sincerely,
E. J. Cremins

wants to sell you every car you'll ever buy.

We don't just want to sell you a car this year. We want to sell you every car you'll ever buy. And if that sounds greedy, it's also the only way to do business. Because it works out better for you. And we figure you'll buy as many as fifteen or twenty cars in a lifetime. Which puts you in the category with some of our biggest fleet customers. The only difference is, you take delivery one at a time.

It's about time a car dealer delivered more than just a car.*

There's a bank in your neighborhood that will approve your mortgage promptly, then set up the closing in less than two weeks.

It's your neighborhood NBD office.
You'll get word promptly on the approval of your mortgage. Then, in as little as two weeks after that, we'll set up your closing for you at an NBD office convenient to you.

What it adds up to is, when you get a mortgage from NBD, you're not kept waiting. You're not kept waiting weeks on end to hear whether or not you've got your mortgage. You're not kept waiting to close on your new home.

Fast, convenient service is one of the reasons more people come to NBD for their mortgage loan than to any other bank in town.
Your NBD office can give you more reasons. Stop in soon.
